A-Bomb Rocks Desert In Test Blast

Troops Only Three Miles From Center

Brilliant Flash And Mushroom Seen Miles Away

BULLETIN

ATOM BOMB SITE, Nev. (AP)—One of the most spectacular atomic bombs ever detonated jolted observers 10 miles distant today and gave 1,500 troops an experience they will never forget.

The explosion, billed in advance as one of the two biggest ever triggered in this country, flashed at 9:30 a.m., Pacific Standard Time, (12:30 p.m., EST) with such brilliance that it was clearly visible in Las Vegas, 75 miles away.

It was set off high in the sky but the shock waves rocked the desert below.

The familiar cloud began to form immediately. Like the flash, it was visible as far away as Las Vegas.

ATOM BOMB SITE, Nev. (AP)—Fifteen hundred tense Army troops took up astonishingly close positions today for a test of fire from one of the largest atom bombs ever exploded.

Scores of trucks and jeeps bearing the atomic G.I.'s from Camp Desert Rock rolled onto Yucca Flat starting at 7 a.m, 2½ hours before Operation Big Shot was scheduled to get under way.

The weather was virtually cloudless, with only slight vagrant breezes. It appeared ideal maneuver weather, especially for the 120 paratroopers who were to make history's first jump behind a nuclear blast.

Yucca Dry Lake shimmered in the bright early sun as wire service reporters and photographers arrived at News Nob at 6:25 a.m. A small weather observation plane circled overhead.

The earliest Army men on hand were the teletype operators and runners of the Signal Corps 16th Signal Operations Battalion, commanded by Col. Robert Heald of Jamestown, N. Y. These men were entrusted with the handling of news copy to bring word of the big drop from the isolated desert spot to the world outside.

The bomb—perhaps the biggest ever tested in the United States—will flash with the brilliance of 150 suns toward the troops dug in deep from three to five miles of ground zero.

Carried on Television

Television cameras were set up to carry the fireball into the living rooms of millions of Americans, even as it lights the heavy goggles of several hundred press and civilian defense observers only 10 miles away. There will be no live radio broadcast, although announcers will put their descriptions on tape to be flown out for later use.

The closest troops have been previously was seven miles in Exercise Desert Rock 1 last Nov. 1. Scientists, including test director Alvin C. Graves, have been as close as six miles.

Brig. Gen. Harry P. Storke, Desert Rock commander, expected the 4½-foot deep foxholes to keep him and his combat battalion from harm. They also counted on the height of the blast—3,000 to 3,500 feet—to reduce ground radiation and heat.

Graves said flatly the plans called for the highest nuclear burst in history. He also said it would be one of the two most potent bombs exploded here — perhaps even succeeding last fall's biggest.

Both Graves and Chairman Gordon Dean of the Atomic Energy Commission said it would outclass the Hiroshima and Nagasaki bombs and would be exceeded only by blasts at the Pacific proving grounds at Eniwetok.

Close to ground zero—a series of white circles a few hundred feet in diameter—will be 24 pigs

Schedule for Summer Still Undecided

Daylight Savings Vote Set Here For November Election

People of Marion will have an opportunity to vote on daylight savings time in November

In a special session at city hall last night City Council unanimously directed City Solicitor George Piacentino to draw up legislation to allow the residents of the city of Marion to vote on whether they want daylight savings time in 1953.

However, council has not decided on whether the city will have daylight savings time this year. An ordinance which would establish fast time starting the last of this month and extending through to September was given first reading last night. Council will discuss the ordinance again at a regular meeting next Monday night.

If the ordinance passed it would put the city on daylight savings time during the summer months but the county would remain on regular time. Because of this, farmers of Marion County seem to oppose the ordinance.

In another action council approved the sale of $600,000 in bonds to the Braun, Bosworth & Co. of Toledo; The Ohio Company of Columbus; and The National City Bank of Marion. The combination bid of the three companies was the lowest for purchase of the bonds to finance the construction of the new Marion sewage disposal plant.

Council also passed a pair of ordinances approving two pieces of property for light manufacturing.

Time Question Leads

But it was the daylight savings time issue which stole the show. At times the words of councilmen and interested spectators got as warm as the temperature in the small Municipal Court room.

Voices Rural Opposition

Opposition to daylight savings time last night came from A. T. Loudenslager of 578 N. Prospect St., who said he was speaking in behalf of the farmers of the county.

"It works a great hardship on the farmers," he said. "Hired help works on an eight-hour day and they quit work at the most productive time of the day under daylight savings time. And because the stores in town close so much earlier the farmers go elsewhere to shop and Marion merchants suffer."

Harold Fralich, Sixth Ward councilman, answered, "No matter how we finally vote on this time issue, we're not going to make everybody happy. I do not want to cause a hardship to the farmers but after all this council does represent the people of Marion. I represent the people of the Sixth Ward and whatever the majority wants, that is the way I'll vote.

Councilman Don Quaintance of the Fifth Ward agreed with Fralich. "This council represents the city and not the county. According to this survey, 24 cities in the northeast section of Ohio have daylight savings time. It seems to work for them."

Opposition to fast time came from Fred Thacker, manager of Marion's two drive-in theaters. He gave council a petition with the signatures of 681 persons opposed to savings time. "I believe most parents are opposed to daylight savings time," he said. "It makes it difficult to get children to bed at night. Most of the summer it doesn't get dark until 10 p.m."

Warning from Mayor

At the start of the time discussion Mayor Harold F. Robinson warned council against what he called "railroading" the ordinance through. He said there were many people who haven't been heard from on the issue. Council passed daylight savings in the past in a hurry and then opposition came from all sides, he said.

Three members of council voted against suspension of rules on the ordinance which prevented a vote being taken on the question last night. They were Harold Smith, First Ward; James Jenkins, Second Ward, and George Stafford, councilman-at-large.

Under the rules the measure would have to be read three times. If the rules are suspended, the second and third reading of the ordinance are waived. But it takes a three-fourths vote to approve a suspension of the rules. The three votes made it less than the necessary three-fourths.

That means that the measure will come before council again next Monday night. If council approves a suspension of the rules, a vote will be taken on the ordinance. If not, the measure will have to be held over for a third reading.

All councilmen said they had received telephone calls galore on this time issue. Tom Clark, councilman-at-large, said he had gotten more calls on the time issue than anything in a long time.

Oddly enough, the council chambers were not packed as expected. Not over 20 persons attended the meeting.

Some of the Views Voiced

Here are some sample opinions expressed last night:

Robert S. Kraner of 676 S. Prospect St.: "Union men should not be affected too much by daylight savings time. Most of them either

Upper Man Explains Corn Shortages

Tells Senators He Sold Grain Because It Wouldn't Keep

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Ohio farmer and grain elevator operator testified Monday "I've been ruined — at least hurt" by what he called "shrinkage" of corn in elevators in which he stored government grain.

Ward P. Walton of Upper Sandusky, testified before the Senate agricultural committee about shortages in government farm products, denied he stole government-owned grain.

Walton said the Commodity Credit Corp (CCC) sent him corn for storage with a moisture content as high as 23 per cent. He said he told officials it wouldn't keep, But he said, "they put the corn on me to keep and said I couldn't turn it down."

Quit Notifying CCC

He testified he got permission to sell 38,000 bushels of "out of condition" corn in the spring of 1950. He said he finally quit notifying the CCC every time he sold corn. But he told the committee all the corn he sold was "out of condition" and that he always put the money back into corn to offset sales.

But Walton said the trouble was that he couldn't buy as much good corn with the money he got from the "out of condition" corn.

Paul J. Cotter, chief counsel for the committee, referred to these actions as "stealing". Walton

The state agriculture department today reported only 63 Ohio farms are still quarantined because of anthrax.

Predicts Florida Will Vote For Sen. Russell

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Smathers predicted today that his home state of Florida will give Sen. Richard B. Russell a wide margin over Sen. Estes Kefauver in the Democratic presidential preference primary on May 6.

"I think Sen. Russell will win by a two to one margin," Smathers told a reporter.

PRISON MUTINY LEADER TO ASK HALT IN RIOTING

Agrees To Make Try For Truce

Tension Still Grips Michigan Pen: One Inmate Killed

JACKSON, Mich. (AP) — A leader of mutinous convicts at riot-torn Southern Michigan State Prison agreed today to appeal to his fellow inmates to stop their mutiny.

Prison officials and inmate Russell Jarbo, termed one of the ringleaders in the bloody outbreak, reached the agreement in truce talks held outside a prison block.

Jarbo will speak over the prison radio at 2 p.m. in an effort to calm the prisoners, whose rampage caused an estimated $2,000,000 damage at the big prison.

Jarbo one of the original 179 mutineers apparently agreed to come out of the besieged cell block 15, center of the rioting, to make his radio appeal.

Officials quoted Jarbo as saying such an appeal might lead to a quick settlement of the convicts' grievances against the prison management.

Dr. Vernon Fox, deputy warden, announced the result of his attempt to achieve a truce in the mutiny and rioting which has brought death to one convict and injured nine others.

Fox, after conferring with Warden Julian Frisbie, went this morning to cell block 15, where the mutineers are holding 11 guards as hostages.

Takes Food To Cell Block

After a short conference, through the prison bars, Fox went to the prison kitchen nearby. There, he got a cart with two big kettles of food and rolled it into the cell block. Then after another brief talk with mutiny leader Earl E. Ward and others, For announced that Jarbo would come out of the block at 2 p.m. to appeal to his mates.

Despite the announcement of the appeal, tension still gripped the big prison in the wake of yesterday's wild rioting.

Two hundred state police and scores of guards patrolled the prison. Practically all the nearly 5,000 inmates were kept locked in cell blocks. Four of the troopers had been injured up to today.

Fears have been felt for the safety of the 11 hostages, some of whom were seized Sunday night. Their captors have made threats, but apparently have not harmed the guards yet.

The prison seemed fairly quiet early this morning. One gunshot shattered the silence. The shot was fired when two inmates fled from cell block 11. At the shot they ran back inside.

Minor Incidents

Some minor incidents occurred today as prisoners set fire to wads of paper and tossed them through cell bars. The guards, however, ignored them.

Meals were served in the cell blocks instead of the mess hall. Rioters tore up the mess hall yesterday.

An officer stationed on the roof of disciplinary cell block No. 15, where the mutinying convicts were holed-up with their hostages, said the men shouted to him this morning that they knew one prisoner had been killed by police gunfire.

However, there was no word of any reprisal for the prisoner death.

Warden Julian N. Frisbie said prisoners told him over the prison telephone last night "the guards are being treated well."

Immediately after the mutiny started Sunday night leaders of the uprising said they were protesting "brutality" and demanded that newspaper men be brought in to give publicity to their demands.

Deny Brutality

Authorities deny there has been brutality in handling of the prison's more than 6,400 inmates.

Four guards were grabbed originally. Then as other prisoners

ARMED STATE POLICE BATTLE PRISON MUTINEERS. Forty Michigan state police, armed with machine guns, pistols and tear gas bombs (right) rush into action in the court yard at Jackson, Mich., prison where rioting inmates set fire to cell blocks. Several prison buildings were burned and pillaged by the rampaging rioters. Officials estimated that more than one million dollars in damage was caused in the riot.

ONE KILLED IN PRISON RIOTING. Prison Guard Harry Goodall, slugged while standing guard in the Jackson, Mich., prison mess hall, is helped to safety by a fellow guard during the worst prison rioting in the state's history. One of the ring leaders of the mutiny is "Crazy" Jack Hyatt, 28, (top, right), serving a term for armed robbery. Two prisoners (below) show some of the so-called "torture instruments" which they claim the guards used on them. One prisoner died of gunshot wounds, according to prison officials.

Senators Slap Truman For Seizure

Vote To Deny Him Funds To Enforce Taking Over of Steel

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate yesterday brushed aside a last-minute appeal by President Truman and voted 44 to 31 for the first of two purse string measures aimed at undoing his seizure of the steel industry.

It was something of a victory, although without practical effect for Republican critics who cried "dictator" since the President ordered the strike-threatened industry taken over by the government on April 8.

Today, government and industry men were called into separate Senate committee sessions as the Senate itself primed for a vote on a second, stronger move.

The roll call yesterday, after rounds of bitter debate, hooked onto a 960-million-dollar appropriations bill an amendment proposed by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich). The amendment forbids use of any of the money to carry out the seizure order.

No Money Needed

Actually none of this money is needed to enforce the seizure, but Sen. Bridges (R-NH), the GOP floor leader, said it was a gesture of Senate disapproval.

Eleven Democrats joined 33 Republicans in the vote. Two Republicans, Morse of Oregon and Langer of North Dakota, sided with 29 Democrats in opposing it.

Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) announced he would press for a vote this afternoon on a companion amendment so tough, he said, it would make it impossible for the President to enforce the seizure order.

Knowland's amendment seeks to forbid the use of any government money, regardless of the source, to operate the steel plants or to seize or operate any others without specific congressional approval.

Thousands Destitute

Red Cross Appeals For Badly Needed Flood Relief Funds

Floods along the Missouri and Mississippi Rivers, the second major national disaster within a month, has forced the American Red Cross to issue a special appeal for $10,000,000.

The urgent need for immediate contributions was emphasized today by L. H. Larsen, disaster chairman for the Marion County Chapter of the Red Cross.

He called attention to the fact that the midwest flood emergency has resulted in a tremendous drain on Red Cross funds available for relief and that immediate replenishment is needed in order that the many thousands of destitute persons may be provided relief.

Larson reports that Marion contributions to date are far under the $1,800 quota. In comparison with this, reports show the nationwide response to the call for funds has been spontaneous and generous. Other communities in this section of the nation are rapidly approaching their quotas, reports show.

Locally, contributions may be taken or sent to the chapter office at 133 W. Center St. Checks should be made out to the American Red Cross.

Just a month ago, tornadoes caused a full-scale emergency in several southern states. In a recent message, National Red Cross president E. Roland Harriman announced that the Red Cross has spent or committed for disaster relief more than $22,000,000 this fiscal year, not including the present floods which have affected 10 states so far.

Funds from the annual Red Cross campaign conducted in March will be insufficient to meet the unprecedented disaster needs now facing the organization, Harriman said.

Red Cross funds go toward human needs which are not taken care of by government funds, Larsen pointed out. Gov-

More Rain Hits Battered Flood Area

Kansas City Area Hardest Hit; Other Cities Reach Crest

KANSAS CITY (AP) — New rain, some of it heavy, sharpened the fears of flood fighters along the raging Missouri river Tuesday.

Major dikes held at critical spots. And the experts clung to their prediction that Kansas City, Kas., and Kansas City, Mo., would be safe. They saw little danger the twin cities would have to take the beating they got in last July's record flood.

As the muddy sea broadened in the lowlands, Missouri Gov. Forrest Smith proclaimed a flood emergency and asked President Truman—for the second time in a year—to allot emergency federal funds to his home state.

Along the upper Mississippi, another record flood boiled seaward.

At La Crosse, Wis., Weatherman A. D. Sanial said "the worst of it is over now." A little rain fell there but not enough to affect the river.

Downstream along the eastern Iowa border, expected flood crests were revised downward for the second time but Gov. William S. Beardsley ordered three more National Guard units to flood duty anyway.

New York And Pennsy Vote Today

Delegates Elected Will Go Uninstructed To Party Conventions

By The Associated Press

Voters in New York and Pennsylvania, states which rank one-two in presidential - nominating strength, ballot today for delegates who will go uninstructed to national party conventions.

New York had no presidential preference race — the battle is for 96 Republican and 94 Democratic delegate seats at the conventions in Chicago next July.

Pennsylvania's popularity poll had but two names on the ballot, both Republicans —Gen. Dwight Eisenhower and Former Gov. Harold Stassen of Minnesota. Democrats and Republicans pick 60 district delegates each. Ten at-large delegates each already have been chosen

Gov. Thomas Dewey seemed to have New York's GOP delegates pretty well assured for Eisenhower. But Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio was predicting he would get 20 of them.

Taft bowed out of the Pennsylvania popularity race, saying it was fruitless because delegates are not bound by its results. Nevertheless, there may be a substantial write-in for him.

See 2-Party Ike Write-in

Eisenhower forces were banking on a write-in, too— among Democrats. Pennsylvania permits crossing party lines in such polls and the general's backers looked at it this way: a heavy Eisenhower vote in both primaries might cause GOP leaders to throw the majority of Pennsylvania's 70 convention votes his way in July.

Democrats in Pennsylvania have to write in a name if they want to express a presidential

Say Unregulated Water Flow Kills Fish in Dam Area

DELAWARE (AP)—The Delaware Fish and Game Club today said unregulated flow of water at Delaware Dam has killed fish in the dam area.

The club sent letters to Prosecutor Clyde Lewis and Ohio Congressmen in Washington asking how to fight the situation.

George Shaw, club president, wrote that closing of the dam backs up large amounts of water, causing destruction of many fish.

He said lowering the water too fast traps fish in pockets on low lands.

The group also protested a recent ruling of the undersecretary of the Army which prohibits leasing dam property to permit growing of crops.

The club termed area crop growth "most vital to wildlife."

A THREAT TO AMERICAN FREEDOM

How Government Seizure of the Steel Mills Affects You

EVERY MAN and woman who works, every citizen in America, has a stake in the great issues growing out of the seizure of the steel mills.

If the President has the right to seize private property to enforce union demands, as has been done in steel, then both the right of property and the continuation of collective bargaining are in serious danger.

Even the independence of unions, themselves, will be in jeopardy.

In looking to the Administration to enforce its demands, the union confesses lack of faith in true collective bargaining. It trades political support for Government favors.

How has the Administration sought to pay its debts to the union?

The first fateful step in the chain of events leading up to the unlawful seizure of the steel industry was taken early in 1951. Then President Truman knuckled under to the pressure of union leaders. He gave them the kind of Wage Stabilization Board they wanted.

The second step was the appointment of the Board itself. It was a "packed court" with 6 union and 6 so-called "public" members on one side and 6 industry members on the other.

It was clearly understood that the findings of the Board in the steel case would be "recommendations" only and not binding on either party.

These recommendations of the Board, whose first duty it was to prevent further inflation, called for the highest wage increase in the history of the Steelworkers' Union, and for the compulsory union shop.

Steelworkers' wages have increased since Korea about in line with the four big industries — electrical machinery, automobiles, rubber, and meat-packing — mentioned by President Truman. The Wage Board recommendation would put steelworker wages far ahead of these others — thus requiring another round of increases in the industries to "catch up" with steel.

Then came the next step. President Truman in a bitter speech, adopting the inflationary recommendations of the Wage Stabilization Board, announced the seizure of the steel mills.

If the people of America through inertia permit this illegal action to pass without protest, they will be turning over to the political whim of any President more and more power over their private lives and property.

This is the well-marked road toward dictatorship. It is the road traveled by every Fascist and Socialist state.

If the Government can seize steel, it can seize any business, large or small, any farm, cattle off the range, or any private property anywhere.

These are the issues involved in the gravest Constitutional debate since the "court packing" plan of 1937.

It Is Your Fight

This fight does not concern the steel companies alone. It is the fight of every American citizen.

If you are opposed to the illegal seizure of property by Government to enforce labor union demands, or for any other purpose, your only recourse is in Congress.

It is your privilege as an American citizen to express your views to your Congressman and Senators.

Write for copies of Clarence B. Randall's stirring speech, "These Are the Facts, Mr. President" and booklet "Facts In the Steel Controversy."

Retired Bucyrus Minister Writes For Baptist Magazine

THE REV. ROBERT HUGHES

BUCYRUS — The Rev Robert Hughes, 92, a resident here many years and the oldest living graduate of Spurgeon's College in London, is the author of an article appearing in a recent issue of The Watchman Examiner, national Baptist magazine

The Rev. Hughes, who makes his home here with his son, H T. Hughes, and family, wrote the artile for the magazine's memorial issue honoring Charles Haddon Spurgeon, famed English religious leader

In his article, the Rev Hughes, who has been connected with the Baptist ministry 74 years, tells of his first meeting with Spurgeon at a communion service Nov. 6, 1881, in the Metropolitan Tabernacle in London Spurgeon, who urged the Rev. Hughes to come to the United States told him on their first meeting, 'my young brother, be faithful and bear much fruit '

The Rev Hughes a native of Wales, participated last month in the ordination of his nephew's son, John W Roberts, as pastor of the Hughson Street Baptist Church in Hamilton, Ontario Canada A grandson, Robert, a graduate of Bucyrus High School is studying for the ministry in the Eastern Baptist Seminary in Philadelphia, Pa

Pity the Poor Hostages

THE current outbreak of prison riots is especially hard on the guards seized by the convicts. It will be more difficult than ever to find men willing to take prison jobs after this latest proof of their hazardous nature.

But there is nothing unusual in the role of hostage in current events. North Korea is a hostage. The steel industry is a hostage. The railroad industry is a hostage.

The idea is the same in all cases—to seize something as a means of enforcing a demand which otherwise would be unenforceable. It is significant in this connection that in the case of North Korea the United States government is proceeding to carry on a campaign of destruction regardless of damage to North Koreans and their property.

In the prison riots, however, the rights of the hostages are being protected by both sides after a fashion. There even is some protection of the rights of owners of property seized by government, though that is scant comfort to the hostages in the reign of "Seizer II."

Canadians Are Willing

TWO decisions this week will show which way the political wind is blowing on the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The U.S.-Canadian Joint Commission is to rule on the application by the two governments for changes in the water level of the St. Lawrence River. Unless it rules favorably, Canada cannot start to construct the seaway on its own initiative.

The Senate foreign relations committee is to consider a bill for U.S. participation in the proposed seaway. Because of the sectional prejudices of committee members, it is doubtful if the committee will act favorably.

The key fact in the issue thus becomes Canada's decision to go it alone as far as opening the St. Lawrence to navigation is concerned. Canada has the right to do the navigation part of the project without U.S. participation. But related power plants would have to be in partnership with a U.S. body, not necessarily a federal government body. The New York State Power Authority is willing to perform that function, if permission is granted by the International joint commission to change the water level of the St. Lawrence River.

No Lack of Money

GRISLY descriptions and pictures of Missouri River flood damage are having the usual effect of making everybody wonder why something can't be done about the Mighty Muddy.

Perhaps the federal government should spend more money.

As it happens, the government has spent $1½ billion dollars on the Missouri River in the last six years and has blue-printed a project which will cost at least $5½ billion. But there is a question whether or not such a vast sum would accomplish an equivalent value unless it can be better integrated.

Last January a commission to study the problem of the entire Missouri River basin was appointed by President Truman. Its aim is to recommend a systematic approach to development, conservation, use of land and water resources and flood control—things now being done piecemeal by different and sometimes conflicting agencies of government.

As justification for expenditures and concern, the size of the basin drained by the Missouri River is cited. It is one-sixth of the land mass of the United States.

Inflation Subsiding

THE tipoff on the direction of official thought in Washington is the move to end controls on installment buying.

But it is wrong to jump at the conclusion that an end of the threat of inflation which caused the controls to be imposed is in sight. Demand for many kinds of goods is sagging because a new kind of inflation has raised the price unnaturally.

This is not the kind of inflation which has bothered the government since the early years of World War II. It is not the kind induced by a net deficit in supply relative to booming demand. It is not the kind caused by potential consumers outbidding one another for scarce commodities, as happened during wartime black markets.

It is, rather, a kind of inflation caused by producers forced to raise prices beyond the reach of consumers. It is a kind of inflation brought about by reversal of the classical operation of mass production for mass markets.

Instead of savings resulting from more efficient production being passed along to buyers in the form of lower prices for better product, the savings now are being demanded as a matter of right by the producers, themselves. It was sensational news this week when one relatively unimportant producer of automobiles cut his price; the price of automobiles has been moving in the opposite direction for more than a decade.

A price increase in steel is in the offing, despite the fact a surplus of steel is in the offing, too. These things reflect the economic purposes of many persons in government authority determined to keep prices up, with or without consumer support.

Everything Made Simple

By James Marlow

There's Always a Campaign Slogan

WASHINGTON

SINCE THE VOTERS know they're not choosing between Shakespeare and Shelley, they can hardly complain if campaign speeches occasionally lack a little literary luster.

And when a political party spends a small fortune for half an hour on radio or TV, it would be almost unfair to expect a candidate to say in one minute what he might have said in 30.

After all, asking a candidate with that much talking time to reduce his ideas to a sentence or two is like asking a mouse to turn up his nose at a piece of cheese.

Nevertheless these speeches, or something, move whole battalions of voters to try to sum up the campaign issues in one simple phrase, sometimes called a slogan. Many must sit up nights doing this.

Then they mail in the result, as if to say "avoid worse by being terse." This is an effort never quite wasted. If the slogan itself is found unsuitable, at least the postal revenue benefits.

When President Truman ran for election in 1948 the Democratic national committee headquarters here was deluged by mailed-in slogans.

Although each author indicated he had hit on something new, there was a certain similarity among the offerings which ranged from "Truman Is Human' and "Be Human With Truman" to "Truman Is a Trueman."

THIS MAY HAVE BEEN the result of a national telepathy occurring among Democrats at the time or it may have been due to some special magic which Truman was exercising in 1948 when his victory itself was considered a miracle.

And this year while it still seemed possible Truman might try again, and before he said he wouldn't, a swarm of busy-bee wellwishers started sending in their slogans for 1952.

After his withdrawal, the mail subsided although this cannot be taken as an indication the letter-writers have retired. They may be conserving their energy for a new candidate who can start bells ringing in their heads.

On the Republican side the supporters of Eisenhower and Taft got off to an early, if not entirely brilliant, start with "I Like Ike" and "Win With Taft."

Politicians have an affinity for slogans for reasons which may seem mystical to outsiders who'd like a little scientific evidence that slogans entice a voter into a polling booth.

IN THEIR BOOK, "A Grammar of American Politics," Wilfred E. Binkley and Malcolm C. Moos report that Boies Penrose, then the Republican boss of Pennsylvania, decided the 1920 campaign issue would be "Americanism."

When asked what "Americanism" meant, according to Binkley and Moos, Penrose replied: "Damned if I know, but you will find it a damned good issue to get votes in the election."

And maybe it was, because "Americanism" and "Back to Normalcy" were Republican battlecries in 1920 when Harding won. In 1924 the voters may have hoped to "Keep Cool With Coolidge." At any rate, they elected him.

And, whether or not the voters thought Hoover could put a "Chicken in Every Pot" for them in 1928, they elected him. They turned against him, though, in 1932.

That was the year the depression was spreading and the Republican assurance that the "Worst Is Over" may have seemed a little premature to them. They chose, instead, Roosevelt whose Democrats were promising "happy days are here again." Maybe this cheerful note did the trick.

No campaign since has lacked a slogan. So there's no reason to worry that this one will.

Daily Bible Thought

We shall take nothing but memories out of this world. Be certain that our memories are not shameful ones. Make them glorious: "For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certain we shall take nothing out."—1 Tim. 6:7.

Second Time Around

By TRUMAN TWILL

KEEP AN EYE on that fly-boy insubordination at Randolph Field in Texas. There, in a canopied cockpit, is the problem your government is going to need to solve before it can face its probable problems of the next half century without flinching.

The "old-timers" at Randolph Field who are growing openly rebellious against a policy which calls up reservists for combat duty while letting regulars stay home have put their finger on the big headache in long-term mobilization.

Is there going to be equality of sacrifice among American manpower, or is there going to be a tendency to shift responsibility to those who already have proved they are willing and able to defend the country?

The World War II aviators at Randolph Field were called up for another tour of duty because they knew the ropes. Since the possibility of being called up was part of the agreement whereby they held commissions, they had no complaint on that score.

Their complaint has to do with the kind of service they are expected to perform the second time around. They do not see why their necks should be risked again while the necks of those now serving their first hitch are still buttoned up inside their new uniforms.

AS TIME GOES on and this sort of problem becomes more complicated, a lot of American men are going to wonder out loud what it is about their particular situation which seems to make them more expendable than other men. It will occur not only to men called up from the reserves but to men called up for the first time.

Either there is going to be absolute equality of sacrifice if the United States must continue to be a semi-garrison state indefinitely, or there is going to be a temblor of dissatisfaction which will rock the foundations of Washington. The government cannot put more than a few recalcitrants in jail as an example. If it lets the example grow too large, it will have a case of martyrdom on its hands.

The United States, with no ambition to become a seat of empire, is going to have to accept one of the responsibilities of empire. Hundreds of thousands of its best men are going to have to spend long periods away from home as tangible manifestations of American intent to stand up for American policy.

With or without the kind of hazards which will accompany modern warfare, they will have to sacrifice part of their civilian careers for a national cause. Americans never have tried this before. They never have dealt with national security on a systematic basis. They always had the stimulation of combat under conditions of crisis to spur them on.

PERHAPS THERE should be more commission at this point—a commission to learn how the British empire maintained its prestige abroad with young Britons forced to live away from home, doing things they would have preferred not to be doing.

The incident at Randolph Field is, in all probability, a symptom of something which may reach epidemic proportions unless it is handled with vastly more intelligence than is commonly found in the military mind.

Turkey's National Assets

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON

TURKEY IS PROUD of its soldiers, now fighting in Korea, but Mme. Feridun C. Erkin, beautiful young auburn-haired wife of the Turkish ambassador, says the nation has other qualities of which to be proud, too.

She would like Americans to know more about her country's modern way of life as balanced against her rich and ancient culture, and about the industry, integrity and friendliness of her people.

Over a cup of very black and savory Turkish coffee in the drawing room of the elegant embassy, she told me how her countrywomen, since gaining suffrage and complete independence in 1934, are increasingly distinguishing themselves in high posts in public life.

She described the rich velvets and silks, the carpets, the glass and pottery, the articles of copper and brass of her country, and told how modern Turkish women are turning out the same exquisite embroideries for which their ancestors were famous.

She proudly reminded me that Turkey has been a member of the United Nations since 1945 and has now joined the North Atlantic Pact. Finally, with a touch of nostalgia, she recalled the color and beauty of her native countryside, which she has not seen for more than 3½ years.

When her husband served as ambassador to Rome, Mme. Erkin, who had put in some years studying piano, became interested in singing. She studied under Saverio Salfi, conductor of the Rome Opera. Last year, on a visit to Italy, she studied with the great Gina Cigna of the La Scala opera at Milan. Leopold Stokowski coached her in New York. Autographed photographs of these adorn the grand piano, tables and cabinets in the great drawing room of the embassy, along with photographs of Bruno Walter, Laurence Melchior, Count Sforza of Italy and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.

In Washington, where the ambassador and Mme. Erkin are among the most popular members of the diplomatic corps, she delights her women friends with small concerts at the embassy.

"It's a little different from the usual afternoon party—just tea and singing," she smiled. But she admitted also to hostessing larger cocktail parties and other gala affairs when large numbers climb the richly-carpeted stairs to partake of her hospitality.

Mme. Erkin, dainty and exceedingly chic, while warmly gracious, shuns publicity and was at first reluctant to be interviewed. "There are no lady reporters in Turkey, also no society reporters," she explained.

Real Germ Warfare

John Crosby Apologizes to The FBI

By George E. Sokolsky

MEN DO GET excited on these television panel programs and say more than they planned to. So it seems that John Crosby, the radio and television expert whose column appears in the New York Herald Tribune and numerous other newspapers, got all excited on the "Author Meets The Critics" program, which these days booms with controversial ineptitudes.

His desire was to denounce his opponent, Ted Kirkpatrick of "Counterattack" and "Red Channels," which is anyone's privilege. Instead Crosby walloped the FBI, to which service Kirkpatrick once belonged. Crosby has since apologized for so heated and careless a remark as this:

"Everybody was in the FBI during the war. It was a way of getting out of the army. We have copy boys on our paper who were in the FBI during the war."

On Sept. 6, 1939, to the FBI's duties in the criminal field was added the responsibility of guarding the internal security of the nation. This required a rapid build-up of its forces, which could not be done with a lowering of qualifications, as that would defeat itself.

No man could serve in the FBI who had not been especially trained. Once appointed, the new agents were sent to the FBI Academy, located on the Marine base at Quantico, Va. Here they were given an intensive course of instructions. Classes were from 9 in the morning until nine at night. Already qualified as lawyers or accountants or college graduates with specialized skills, they were trained as expert investigators and they qualified as experts in firearms—the Thompson sub-machine-gun, the rifle, the shotgun and the pistol. A daily class in athletic training kept them in trim.

WHEN WAR CAME, these men were engaged in tasks which were an essential part of any war, namely, guarding against espionage, sabotage, subversion. They were deferred from the armed services because they were actually doing war work. General Lewis B. Hershey, director of the selective service system, issued this memorandum on the subject:

"The Federal Bureau of Investigation is charged with the responsibility in matters pertaining to the national defense, including espionage, sabotage, and subversion. As a part of its duty the bureau receives and maintains extensive fingerprint records. In the present national emergency the duties of the Federal Bureau of Investigation will become more extensive and will assume an increasing importance. It is considered essential to the national health, safety, and interest, and to the national defense that the functions of the Federal Bureau of Investigation should not be impaired by the removal of trained personnel from critical positions with the bureau."

EVEN TO INTIMATE that these men were draft-dodgers, slackers, or anything of the sort, is stupid nonsense and represents the kind of wild thinking so characteristic of all ad hominem arguments. In fact, FBI men were regarded as so important in their work that they were required to give up any reserve commissions they held. In March, 1942, the secretary of war issued this order:

"In view of the fact that your civilian employment in the Federal Bureau of Investigation, United States Department of Justice, is of such a vital nature to the national defense as to necessitate your remaining at your post of duty, despite the fact that you hold a reserve commission in the United States Army, I request that you submit, through proper channels, your resignation from your commission.

"I am making this request because of my knowledge that the services being rendered by you to your government in your present employment are of great value to the war effort. The personal risks, the hazards and the sacrifices which you are called upon to make in your daily service in the Federal Bureau of Investigation are in no manner or degree inferior to those you might be called upon to make in the armed services."

A similar order was issued by the Navy.

JOHN CROSBY MAY not like Ted Kirkpatrick because of "Counterattack" and "Red Channels," but to attack the FBI's war record, in the year 1952, is a dangerous support of men and women whom no American should regard as friends.

The FBI kept this country free of Hitler's agents during the war; the FBI can do the same in relation to Stalin's agents.

If you want to know how they do it, see the motion pictures, "My Son John" and "Walk East On Beacon" when they appear in your neighborhood.

Marion County History Brevities

By EDNA S. DUTTON

The Wyandot Indians occupied the region of the Scioto and were always attached to the country. They gave the river its name, calling it in their native tongue, "Sci-ou-to." In all the treaty negotiations for the cession of the lands on the Scioto and including Marion County, the treaties were made with the Indians. The various expeditions against the Indians of the Northwest Territory under Wilkinson, Harman, St. Clair, Crawford and others, were fruitless of results save loss of life and immense expenditures.

(With apologies to Mr. Riley.)

Little Orphant Bizness lookin' all harassed and gray
Just tries to do what it is asked an' git along some way
An' operate like it is told and help with the defense,
An' turn out things as ordered to by governmental gents;
An' all the big offishuls when the super jobs are done
We set around the questionnaires an' has the mostest fun
A list'nin' to the witch-tales 'at Harry tells about
And the Gobble-uns at gits you
Ef you Don't Watch Out!

II

One't there was an industry 'at wouldn't say its prayers,
And when it went to bed at night away upstairs,
Stockholders heered it holler and directors heered it bawl,
An' when they turn't the kivvers down it wasn't there at all!
An' they seeked in the Potomac an' the courts an' chimbley flue
And seeked it in the cellar of the White House, neat and new.
But all they ever found was this! its pants and roundabout,
And the Gobble-uns 'll git you
Ef you Don't Watch Out!

III

An' one time a corporation would allus laugh and grin
An' try to git some justice when they socked it on the chin
An' one't when stabilizashun boards was putting on their act
It asked, "Would anybody mind if I should state a fact?"
An' thist as it gave figures that seem'd rather well applied
There was two great big Black Things a-standin' by its side,
An' they snatched it thru the ceiling 'fore it knowed what it's about,
And the Gobble-uns 'll git you
Ef you Don't Watch Out!

IV

An' Little Orphant Bizness says when the blaze is blue
An' the White House mutters an' the wind goes "woo-oo-oo!"
An' Charlie Sawyer chuckles an' the whole Palace Guard
Gives a wierd and creepy horse-laugh and a look at's hard,
You better take your orders from H.S.T. fond and dear
An' cherish mediators an' decisions loud an' clear
An' smile on them 'at seizes you with microphonic shout —
Er the Gobble-uns 'll git you

Says Public Real Losers To Censorship

NEW YORK (AP)—Newspapers "must do a better selling job" to make the people realize what "civilian censorship in our government" means to them, the American Newspaper Publishers Association was told today.

Robert M. White II, editor and general manager of the Mexico (Mo.) Ledger, spoke of the newspapers having the "real job" of telling the people about President Truman's executive order of last September allowing civilian departments of government to hold back information on security grounds.

White said in a prepared speech that civilian censorship is a "sickening body blow" to freedom of the press.

The Missouri editor presided at a meeting for publishers of dailies with circulations of less than 10,000. Another meeting was being held at the same time for publishers of dailies with circulations between 10,000 and 50,000. The ANPA sessions, part of annual Newspaper Week, opened here today.

Real Losers Didn't Protest

While most newspapers denounced the President's order, White said, "the people as a whole—the real losers in this matter of civilian censorship—did not denounce it."

He said he concluded that "you and I as newspapermen have failed to make the case clear to the American people."

"Civilian censorship does not hit us in the pocketbook," he continued. "Newspaper circulation was never stronger. Readership was never better. Advertisers spend more money with us than with any other medium.

"Why should we start a fight?"

He added: "There is only one reason: Our service to our readers is no longer complete . . . . And the particular service that the reader has now been denied by our government is the most basic one of all: How the politicians are spending the people's money and using the people's power. In other words, a degree of democracy, itself, is at stake."

White said that the newspapers "must get across to the people that they are the loser—not the newspapers."

Newspaper Week Opens

Newspaper Week opened with the annual membership meeting of The Associated Press.

General sessions of the ANPA convention start tomorrow.

Dedication Set For Crawford Tree Farm

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS — Dedication of a farm, owned by Milton Harman, school superintendent at nearby Mt. Zion, as a tree farm will mark Crawford county's observance of Arbor Day Friday, county Agriculture Agent Russell L. Miller announced here today.

The ceremony will include a talk by R. R. Paton of the Ohio Forestry Association. The farm will be dedicated as the "Milton and Tressa Harman Tree Farm."

Harman, former Crawford county superintendent of schools and Mt. Zion superintendent for many years, is one of the county's outstanding forestry conservation advocates, Mr. Miller pointed out.

The program also will include a tree-sawing demonstration by the Stuckman Brothers of the Crawford Nursery, located at Mt. Zion, and there will be a tree estimating contest conducted by Forest Dean, extension forester of Ohio State University.

Following completion of the program, there will be a tour of the forest plantings and the Stuckman tree nursery, which is located near the Harman farm. A sawmill demonstration will be held at the Stuckman sawmill.

Harman's 90-acre wood is located five and one-half miles southwest of Bucyrus, the first farm west of Mt. Zion School. The woodland has been protected from livestock and the owners have cooperated in the conservation program with W. O. Schremm of the state division of forestry.

The dedication originally was scheduled for last fall but was postponed because of the illness of Mr. Harman.

GAS RANGE "SPRING STYLE SHOW" OPENS HERE

Appliance Dealers Offer Range Values in Annual Showing

Can the "Lovely To Look At" theme of this year's Spring Style Show of gas ranges be applied to your kitchen?

Homemakers are being asked to examine their kitchen's eye-appeal this week as local appliance dealers call their attention to the latest styles in automatic gas ranges.

Dealers point out that this year, more than ever before, range manufacturers are emphasizing beauty, incorporating a sleekness of design that will pep up the drabbest kitchen.

That's why the title of Kathryn Grayson's current MGM picture, "Lovely To Look At," was chosen for the 1952 Spring Style Show theme. And dealers back up the theme with displays of smoothly fashioned, streamlined ranges in a variety of brands and models.

Finished in glistening porcelain enamel and topped with eye-catching trim, the modern gas range is the center of attention in most up-to-the-minute kitchen interior, the dealers say.

Merchants are stressing also that a gas range, kitchen beauty need not be confined to apliiances. They say that by taking advantage of the drudgery-ending automatic features of the gas range, the homemaker herself can be more "Lovely To Look At."

An especially timely item in the work-saving line is the automatic clock control. Dealers point out that balmy spring days are already here—days when the active homemaker wants more time for afternoon jaunts with friends and neighbors, for outdoor hours with the children.

The clock control provides that time. Style Show demonstrators illustrate how it eliminates hours spent tending slow cooking roasts and baked goods. It turns the oven on while you're gone, turns it off just at the right time, whether you're back or not.

Gas ranges save time in other ways, too, the dealers add. Top burners, broilers and ovens are

RANGES "LOVELY TO LOOK AT" DEALERS SAY!

instant-automatic They light at the turn of a valve

Citing reasons why modern gas ranges are quicker to clean, dealers show many models with one-piece tops, clever drip trays and high back-splashes Most have smooth-rounded corners with no hard-to-get-at cracks and crannies Acid-resisting porcelain on the white work surface wipes clean with the sweep of a damp cloth

Hot, greasy smoke from the broiler is as unnecessary as it is unsightly the dealers say Gas ranges broil with the broiler door closed and the blue flame consumes smoke as fast as it appears

Another time-saver they demonstrate is instantaneous heating There's no waiting for burners to warm a clear flame touches the utensil and food starts to cook at once

And with a modern gas range the cook is boss of cooking speed, dealers remind the homemaker Between the speedy giant flame and the small "keep-warm" flame are a thousand and one intermediate cooking speeds all instantly available with a twist of the valve

Underneath the slickly-styled exterior of the gas range is a feature dealers believe will become more important as spring gives way to summer With warm, sticky days on the way homemakers will be interested to know that gas range ovens are enclosed in thick blankets of insulation that keep heat in the oven and out of the kitchen

Cooking on top of the range is cool, too Burners turn off instantly and heat disappears A low simmer-burner gives just enough heat to keep liquids boiling

Miss Roth And William E. Ruth Exchange Vows

MARRIAGE vows were repeated from memory when Miss Margery Anne Roth became the bride of William E. Ruth in a candlelight ceremony Saturday, April 12, in the Church of the Nazarene. The Rev. Clarence L. Wooten, pastor, performed the ceremony at 7:30 p.m.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. John P. Roth of near Marion, and Mr. Ruth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton S. Ruth, also of near Marion.

Large baskets of gladioli and calla lilies decorated the church, and potted Easter lilies, palms, and seven-branched candelabra stood on the altar. Music was by Miss Colleen Wooten, organist and Mrs. Jane Smith and Mrs. Jean Dreyer, vocalists.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white nylon tulle and lace over satin. A fitted bodice of lace over satin was topped with a yoke of tulle accented with shirred tulle in a roll over the shoulders. The full tulle skirt with lace panels covered an underskirt of heavy bridal satin with a short train. A veil of elbow length tulle was held in place by a small cap with pearl trim. She carried white roses on a white Testament, and wore a double strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom.

Matron Of Honor

Mrs. Jeanne Martin of Osgood, Ind., was matron of honor for her sister. Miss Mary E. Ruth, the bridegroom's sister, was bridesmaid, and candlelighters were Mrs. Barbara Dennison of Marion and Mrs. Jewel Roth of Mansfield. Jean Ann Martin, the bride's cousin, was flower girl and Roger Ruth, the bridegroom's brother, was ring bearer.

The matron of honor wore a gown of powder blue nylon sheer over taffeta, while the bridesmaid's gown was of yellow nylon sheer over taffeta. Both carried yellow carnations with blue narcissi. The candlelighters were gowned in blue nylon sheer over taffeta and wore wrist corsages of yellow carnations.

George Ruth of near Marion served as best man. Ushers were Claire Harper, Fred Roth, and George Dennison.

Reception At Parish House

The Calvary parish house was the scene of a reception following the ceremony. A miniature bride and bridegroom and blue and yellow candles were atop a three-tiered white wedding cake.

The bride wore a red and grey checked suit with navy accessories and the rose corsage from her wedding bouquet when the couple left for a motor trip to Florida.

The new Mrs. Ruth was graduated from Green Camp High School in 1950 and was employed in the city auditor's office. Her husband, a 1949 graduate of Green Camp High School, is engaged in farming. They will live on a farm near Marion.

No Bar To Home-Making

Circus Couple Enjoy Life Under Big Top

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor

ELSIE AND PAUL JUNG are a devoted, home-loving couple. Elsie likes to sew and Paul likes to tinker.

The main difference between the Jungs and thousands of other quiet, domestic American couples is that the Jungs' home is the circus.

Paul is a clown and Elsie is an equestrienne. Eight months of the year they are on the road with Ringling Brothers - Barnum and Bailey. But whether home is a railroad car or a theatrical hotel, Paul and Elsie manage to make it look—and feel—like home.

Wherever she goes, Elsie's portable sewing machine goes with her. She makes costumes for the midgets in her spare time, or runs up other odd wardrobe needs of the circus not supplied by the regular costumers. Once she had to make a horse with two heads.

After the night performance she can put together a tasty omelet or a batch of pancakes for Paul and their friends of the big top.

For four months in the winter the Jungs settle down in their Tampa, Fla., home and Paul goes to work in his own factory, where he makes circus props such as the outsize papier mache heads worn by some of the clowns, or anything else from a miniature train to reproductions of Christopher Columbus' ships.

Circus folks say the big show couldn't operate without the Jungs. Whenever anything impossible is needed, Paul and Elsie between them manage to supply it.

ELSIE AND PAUL met when both were with the Hagenbeck-Wallace circus, back in the early '30's. Elsie worked as an aerialist as well as expert rider then, and Paul was following his favorite role of clown.

They've been with Ringling Brothers 16 years, and still are going strong. During the winter Paul figures out his next season's clown act, working with the eight or ten other clowns. He writes and directs the material, then tries it out on Elsie. If she laughs, it's good. Says he:

"We always try to make the act topical. The main thing is you've got to keep it simple, and the clown always has to get the worst of it in the end.

"The reason we all stay on with the circus, I guess, is that there's no thrill on earth like that first big, roaring laugh from the audience on opennig night—if the act is good."

THE JUNGS are as happy as any family living the year round in vine-covered cottage and following more conventional trades.

Elsie does the laundry every week in a local serve-yourself laundry wherever the circus may be—or manages with the buckets which are a vital part of every circus family's gear.

She cooks and sews and sings at her work, and when she and Paul get back to Tampa they enjoy the space and quiet of their own home. But there's nothing wrong with circus life, either, for Elsie, who says:

"Anybody can make a home any place, if she wants to."

Galion Postman Relaxes in Home Repair Shop

Special to The Star

GALION — Postman by day, mechanic during the evenings, is the story of Clarence H. Holderness, formerly of Marion, who this month completed 25 years as a postman.

The mechanical end of the job is only a hobby with Holderness, whose mother and father live in Marion.

During the past week, Holderness chalked off a quarter of a century of service at the Galion post office. He was congratulated by his fellow workers on his 25th anniversary of postal service.

In his shop in a garage at the rear of his home, Holderness spends many hours after he is through with his work at the post office. He works on air-cooled garden tractors and power mower engines.

During the war when junior bicycles were not made Holderness made many a child happy when he rebuilt old bicycles into "new" junior bicycles. He cut down and rebuilt frames and then attached smaller wheels.

Several years ago Holderness made motor bikes as a hobby. He learned mechanics when he worked as a machinist apprentice in the old Erie shops here a number of years ago. Later he worked at the Galion Iron Works & Manufacturing company before starting in the post office, in 1927.

Holderness was born in Marion. His father, Clyde H. Holderness lives on Girard Ave., and a sister, Mrs. Pauline Smith lives on Windsor St. He came to Galion in 1917.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

HEARD ON THIS BEAT:

Count on a 'Draft-Truman' campaign by the nation's labor leaders when they get out to the Democratic convention. They form quite a bloc now that the Democrats are naming scores of union chiefs as delegates. Virtually all of these are New Dealers — and they will be over 100 strong in Chicago. Furthermore, many of the state leaders, such as Pittsburgh's mayor, David Lawrence, are intimate friends and political associates of the nation's labor men. Lawrence is one of Phil Murray's close friends

In the highest labor circles this week they began talking of the "Draft-Truman" plans after Adlai Stevenson quit. Stevenson's boom began and was jet-propelled by Mrs. Roosevelt's Americans For Democratic Action, which is led by David Dubinsky and Walter Reuthor. They now see no other candidate but Mr Truman. Otherwise, the unions will just go through the motions this campaign. No money and no manpower for any of the other Democrats who really have a chance for the nomination

DON'T UNDERESTIMATE labor's power at the Democratic convention, especially in Chicago itself.

Remember, it took just two CIO unions, the Clothing Workers and the Auto Workers, to boom Henry Wallace to within a few votes of the vice-presidential nomination in '44. And overnight, too. The unions will have the galleries full at all times . . .

At least one or two topside labor leaders feel a drum-thumping "draft Truman' demonstration might sway him. They have been told by one of the handful of men who know why Truman decided to quit that there was nothing philosophical in this decision.

It was a promise made to Mrs. Truman. It was not so much the President's health as the assassination attempt which made her adamant against renomination The President's family is a closely knit one and the assault by those Puerto Ricans shook her more than any other incident of the past seven years.

ALL COMMUNIST sections have been alerted to smear Gen. Eisenhower as anti-Negro . . . The Stalinists are also disturbed by the showing of Sen. Taft in big industrial cities and have directed renewed attacks upon him . . The pro-Soviet apparatus in this country is preparing for its biggest propaganda show over the July 4th weekend when it opens the Progressive Party convention in Chicago just a few days before the major clambakes . . .

Actually, it can be revealed for the first time that the undercover Party propaganda boss is John Steuben, a man of many aliases, a friend of the Chinese Communists, an intimate associate of Gerhart Eisler and not unknown in muscle circles. He's now selling the national pro-Communist line in a Chicago office. Steuben, alias Ryzak, alias Schlusberg, operated for years as the leader of the AFL's Hotel Front Service Employes Union Local 144—a spot from which he and his aides could spot important goings and comings out of many major New York hotels. When he was ousted, his anti - Communist successors found he had taken cash from the union, leaving a batch of IOUs He was immediately sued by the union. Where did the money go?

There now is no doubt that the government knows where the fugitive seven Communist leaders are hidden. They are not out of the country—and they're living with women other than their wives to camouflage their hideouts. Their wives are furious. This kind of sacrifice they hadn't intended to make for the Party . . .

WATCH FOR GANG war in the East. The Mr. Bigs are fed up with the tactics of lesser lieutenants who keep breaking into the news—jeopardizing the safety of the crime tycoons who want to live on their real estate and manufacturing investments — quietly.

WHAT THE GOVERNMENT, the public and the steel industrialists are overlooking is Phil Murray's national United Steelworkers Convention This is just around the time table's corner—May 13. When Murray opens that first session he must come before the 3,000 delegates in Philadelphia that day. He will either report a complete victory to them or talk strike if he hasn't yet been granted wage increases, the union shop' and other demands . . Incidentally, the companies now lose a minimum of $6,000,000 a week, each week that the government fails to put into effect the price increase automatically due them under the law. This is not the increase they're arguing about. This is the $2.50 to $3.00 per ton in addition to which the companies want $9 . . .

THE STEEL crisis is overshadowing a hard hitting wave of wildcat strikes which has hit everything from atomic production to jet engines. During the past week, atomic installations were hit by the 55th strike since the new Korean expansion program went into effect . . .

NARCOTICS CHIEF Harry Ansiinger is dismayed by the fact that over 10 American unions have ignored his suggestions that they expel convicted dopesmugglers and peddlers. The labor men haven't even replied to him . . . Easily the most exciting and intelligent exposure of Communist intrigue is Columbia picture's "Walk East on Beacon."

Independent Voters

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

IT LOOKED LIKE the political man-of-the-year in 1952 was going to be the independent voter.

Now I'm not so sure. I think the tide may be turning against him.

There is a strong possibility that the independent voter has already passed the peak of his popularity.

At the start of the indoor campaign training season experts figured there might be as many as 25,000,000 independent voters this year, and that they would hold the balance of power in the presidential election.

This immediately made the independent voter the Clark Gable of politics. He was pictured as a high-minded, thoughtful figure who stood above the clamor of partisanship and weighed every issue carefully.

What happened? Well, naturally 99.44 per cent of all living Americans decided they were independent voters. The temptation to stand aloof on the heights, wooed by all factions, was irresistible.

Each man could dream of the following situation: On election day the nation is divided 29,567,843 to 29,567,843 and as Mr. Jones steps up to ballot the rival statesmen say:

"Mr. Jones, the fate of our country rests on your vote. Whom do you choose?"

"I am an independent voter," says Jones proudly. "On the grounds of patriotism rather than party I cast my ballot for—."

An the nation breaks out in cheers. Jones has made history.

THE TROUBLE WIH this pretty dream was that everybody was trying to get into the act. If you had decided to be an independent voter, it seemed that everybody you met had decided to be one, too

That wasn't any fun. So, gradually, more and more people have decided to go back and be the Democrats and Republicans they always were And they are having a much better time. They can pitch in and argue for the side they really favor.

Back in the fold themselves, they are beginning to attack the independent voter as a heretic or a fence-straddler afraid to stand up and be counted as a man

One of these returned party regulars recently gave me this definition of an independent voter: "He's a guy who can't get a job with either party, and knows it." And another said, "If you ask an independent voter how he stands on the Taft-Hartley act, he tells you he stands on the hyphen."

This is mighty unfair, of course, to the conscientious independent voter, but as the outdoor campaigning season heats up it looks like he's going to be an even lonelier figure.

There are certain disadvantages to his position. If you are losing a friendly political argument at a cocktail party, and somebody gets you down and starts beating you up, you can get rescued by shouting, "Help, I'm a Democrat!" or "Save me, I'm a Republican!"

BUT WHAT WOULD happen if you yelled from the floor, "Help, help, I'm an independent voter!" The other independent voters would just stand there and look at you. But all the Republicans and Democrats would rush over and joyously join in kicking you.

That's the danger of being an independent in anything. You may have distant admirers, but you lack first aid in an emergency.

Two Men Fined ForDefrauding State BUC

Men Worked And Got Unemployment Money, They Admit

Two Marion men pleaded guilty to charges of fraudulently obtaining money from the State Bureau of Unemployment. Compensation at hearings this morning in Municipal Court.

They were Carl Melvin Williams, 38, of 775 Gill Ave. and Otto Emerson Russell, 67, of 170 Curtis Ct. Williams pleaded guilty to obtaining $406 while Russell admitted obtaining $263. Both were fined $300 and given 30-day jail sentences by Municipal Judge W. Dexter Hazen. In both cases the jail sentences was suspended along with $250 of the fine on the condition that the men make restitution to the department. Both were placed on probation for a one-year period.

Williams admitted he filed a claim for unemployment compensation on July 1, 1950, and became employed July 16. He claimed 17 weeks and was employed during that period. He was paid $406 by the bureau for a weekly average of $29 while earning $732 for an average of $18 a week during the period. He was employed by an oil company in Cleveland and Marion during the time, a bureau spokesman said.

The Russell claim was filed Feb 13, 1950 and covered a 25-week period. He was employed 10 of the 25 weeks, he admitted. He earned $242.62 for a weekly average of $24 while the bureau was paying him at the rate of $25 a week. The case was uncovered as a result of a check by the central office. Bureau spokesmen said his employment occurred during the 19 weeks and was for four different employers, all in the Marion area.

Williams was represented by William R. Martin while Riley Hall represented Russell.

Cripps Dies In Switzerland

Authored Britain's Austerity Program

ZURICH, SWITZERLAND (AP) — Sir Stafford Cripps, the Socialist statesman who tried to bring postwar Britain back with less beef, more sweat and higher taxes, died last night.

Fear of Soviet Russia—where he represented Britain from 1940 to 1942—stymied immediate success of the austerity program he ruled over after World War II. Cripps' economic plans were on the verge of victory until Russia's expansionist policies caused the governments of Britain and her western Allies to turn much of their output to rearmament.

Cripps died here in the Living Strength Clinic after 35 years chronic suffering from colitis contracted as a World War I ambulance driver and 18 months of acute illness from spondylitis, a progressively crippling spine inflammation. He would have been 63 next Thursday.

His wife, Isobel, was at his bedside.

FIRST AID FAILS. Danish scientists seek to save the life of a 200-pound sea elephant captured on Campbell Island, 300 miles south of New Zealand. Despite cold shower treatments given "Sir Anthony" in Los Angeles, he died while enroute to New York. The body, when mounted, will go to the Copenhagen, Denmark, Zoo.

WORKERS BATTLE OMAHA FLOOD. Throughout the night, flood-fighters at Omaha, Neb. (top) keep tired eyes pinned on the rampant Missouri River as they protect levees against seepage. Just over their heads, a huge pipe pours out water pumped from a nearby seepage pool. At bottom, exhausted by their long vigil, emergency crewmen take a nap.

Optometrists Of Area Meet

Nationally-Known Speaker on Program

Dr. Louis Jaques, nationally known optometrist from Los Angeles, Calif, spoke to a group of Marion area optometrists Saturday noon following a luncheon in Hotel Harding. His lecture dealt with visual training and was illustrated with slides.

The author of three books on optometry, Dr Jaques is a director of the Los Angeles School of Optometry. He flew to Marion from Toronto, Canada, where he spoke at the Canadian National Optometric Association convention, and then left here for Des Moines, Ia., where he is a principal speaker at the state optometric convention this week

Dr Jaques is well known in his field as an authority on visual training, such as straightening crossed eyes He came to Marion as the guest of Dr. Carroll Ritchey.

rioted, around 500 spilling into the yards from other buildings, toughs sneaked from No. 15 and got nine more guards at knife-point. Later they released two, one because of his age, another because he was ill.

Darwin Millage, 35-year-old convict from Detroit, was the man killed. He was shot through the chest as some 200 inmates threatened to take over fire trucks brought in to fight fires started by the rioters in at least five buildings. State troopers escorted the trucks and later cleared the yards.

Millage was serving 15 to 25 years for statutory rape.

A ninth convict was wounded and Police Commissioner Leonard was nicked in the scalp by a piece of flying debris as troopers fired a fusillade into the front of cell block No. 11—one of two mental units—to drive rioters into corridors. After a tumultuous day, the mental-case inmates finally were driven into the cells and secured shortly after dark.

Mutiny Leaders

The mutineers are being led by Jack Hyatt, 29, and Earl E. Ward, 30. Both are convicted robbers serving long terms, and both have police records from boyhood. Ward is classified as a mental-case inmate. Hyatt's nickname is "Crazy Jack" and police say it fits.

Before his transfer here, Hyatt tried in 1950 at knife-point to abduct Gov. G. Mennen Williams at Marquette State Prison and use him as a shield for an escape. One of Hyatt's pals was fatally shot in that scuffle and Hyatt was overpowered.

The holed-up convicts claim they have plenty of food from looted store rooms.

The prisoners are without firearms, but are armed with long, sharp knives taken from kitchens, iron bars torn from cells, heavy chains, clubs and contrabrand prisoner-fashioned daggers.

Convicts At Rahway Win Chief Demand

RAHWAY, N. J. (AP)—Rebellious convicts at Rahway State Prison won their chief demand—a probe of the state parole board—but held out today on the issue of disciplinary action after a flareup in their five-day mutiny.

A prison official said a "slight amount" of tear gas was used Monday night on the 231 rebel prisoners who took over a dormitory wing Thursday night and are holding eight guards hostage.

R. William Lagay, superintendent of the prison farm, said the gas was used to quell a new disturbance by the rioting convicts.

The mutineers want no reprisals for their action and prison officials said they could not guarantee there would be no disciplining of the prisoners.

The agreement on the parole board investigation was the result of the first negotiations between the rioters and prison authorities since the revolt started.

When their demand for no reprisal action was not met, the convicts touched off a disturbance in the dormitory wing which spread to the south wing of the prison, not previously involved in the outbreak.

The south wing was quieted within 45 minutes when threatened with gas, Lagay said.

Hospital and Cemetery Too Close Together

MELBOURNE, Australia (UP)—Someone slipped in picking the site for a new £2,000,000 ($4,500,000) hospital at Shepparton, 110 miles north of Melbourne.

The proposed site would overlook the cemetery, which "might not be conducive to the patients' recovery" the city's health committee decided.

Now they're looking for something on the other side of Shepparton.

OHIO BUYS TEN CIVIL DEFENSE TRUCKS. Bomb Supply Plentiful But Results Spotty

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

ATOM BOMB SITE, Nev., (AP)—We have real baby A-bombs and also near-giants, and we have them in great variety.

That is the explanation of the many A-bombs that have been exploded here in a little more than a year Some prove very good, and others not so good when measured by the grim purpose behind all this work, namely to give our Army and Navy bombs that they can use in battle against enemy troops and ships.

This new picture of America's atomic power comes from the numerous briefings by U. S. Atomic Energy officials and by generals, which set the stage for operation big shot (the military name is operation big horn), the first public exhibition of A-bomb progress here

Baby bombs are both small in size and small in explosive power, when compared with our first bombs. In size they are still big but getting small enough for firing in big guns and in guided missles They are at the practical military stage

claimed the "shrinkage" was responsible

Russell P Case, Walton's partner in the Walton and Case elevator at Richwood, O, estimated the government's claim against the three Walton elevators might run a million dollars or more

The other two elevators in which Walton is interested — also involved in corn shortages — are Walton & Myers Elevator, Upper Sandusky, and Sycamore Mill & Supply Co., Sycamore

Call Two Partners

Committee Chairman Ellender (D-La) said Wayne H. Myers of Upper Sandusky and Marion A. Ward of Sycamore were two other Ohioans who would be called to testify. They are partners with Walton in the Upper Sandusky and Sycamore mills.

Walton testified he is worth $996,000 "after all obligations," including claims of the Commodity Credit Corp. growing out of the shortages.

A. C. Christian, an accountant in the Agriculture Department's Production and Marketing Office in Chicago, estimated the total shortage in the three Walton elevators at 611,800 bushels.

Walton said he hasn't been given a final bill, but that he will pay the government what is due if he has to sell some farms. He said he farms about 7,000 acres in Ohio.

Walton said "I've been ruined—at least hurt" by his venture into storing grain for the government.

"I was green in this business," he said. "I'm an expert in farming, I think"

and 1,600 mice in cages and pens. Seven tanks, more than 20 machine-guns and mortars, heavy artillery pieces, and several light planes also will be ahead of the troops

The most spectacular role of the maneuver was given to 120 paratroopers of the 504th Regiment, 82nd Airborne Division, Fort Bragg, N. C. When radiation was safely reduced, they were to jump from four C-46s to complete a pincer movement on the "enemy" stronghold at ground zero — the point on the ground directly below the explosion.

Besides the 82nd Airborne, the combat battalion includes elements of the 31st Infantry Division, Camp Atterbury, Ind.; 47th Infantry Division, Camp Rucker, Ala.; 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment, Camp Carson, Colo; the 369th Engineers, Fort Worden, Wash.; a Sixth Army medical detachment; and men from the 140th Fighter-Bomber Group, Clovis Air Force Base, N. M

The delivering B-50 will come from the Special Weapons Center at Kirtland Air Force Base, Albuquerque.

All planes were ordered to keep out of the 12,000 and 14,000-foot air lanes between Albuquerque and Las Vegas.

Paul Hunt of the Millard Hunt Co.: "I made a survey of our employes, 30 of them, and they were for daylight savings time. But I think the issue should be put on the ballot in November to decide once and for all how the majority of the people of Marion feel about it."

George Stafford, council-man-at-large "I haven't heard from the merchants yet. For my own personal reasons I'm in favor of it But I'm going to vote for what I think the people want."

Robert Haldeman, councilman-at-large "We need the cooperation of the people who live in the county outside the city of Marion What we decide should be tempered by the effect on the county Many people I have asked didn't care. Of those who did, about 75 per cent were in favor of daylight savings time."

Tom Clark, councilman-at-large "There are 10,000 actual employes in Marion. We should make some effort to contact that group. I talked to a couple of union men and they were for it."

The motion to direct the city solicitor to draw up legislation to place the time issue on the November ballot was made by Louis Conkle, fourth ward. He originally brought it up for consideration a week ago.

Mardi Gras

EASTER IS OVER for another year which will give us a little time to do some thinking about the nature of this holiday It's high time Ever since Irving Berlin wrote "Easter Parade" a standard work of great persuasive power, Easter has been dedicated more to the secular worship of the Easter bonnet than to anything else

In a fine and wholly justified frenzy of indignation The Buffalo Evening News editorialized "Easter Sunday the day for homage to the risen Christ— was celebrated in New York City with all the devotion appropriate to an afternoon at Coney Island or the earthy revels of a mardi gras The spectacle as viewed through the eyes of the television camera was a tawdry commercial carnival

I'M AFRAID television has to bear most of the blame Not so many years ago the Easter Parade on Fifth Avenue was a gay chic affair, one of the few functions in this large city which resembled in spirit if not in decor the festive communal gatherings of small towns A man could actually walk down Fifth Avenue from Central Park to 42nd Street Things got a little crowded around St Patrick's Cathedral but you could push through all right There were only the normal quota of exhibitionists and commerce was invisible if it was present at all

Then came television Easter went commercial with a vengeance Vivian Blaine strolled past the cameras on at least two networks wearing pearls worth $250,000 a handbag worth $50,000 and a few other assorted baubles — covered by an armed guard a fine sight for Easter Mr John and Mr Fred were snatching at microphones all over Fifth Avenue extolling their hats Elsa Maxwell exclaimed, she looked terrible in hats one of the few honest remarks made all day

Several score celebrities explained precisely where their hats shoes and suits came from paying off Models switched hats in front of St Patrick's cathedral, which on one of the holiest days of the year should hardly be used for that purpose On Fifth Avenue Betty Furness and Dennis James, who wore long woolen underwear under his striped pants spoke of the weather Cold they said Said Mr James perhaps unwittingly 'I've seen more dogs in this Easter parade than I've ever seen in my life before He was talking specifically about a poodle

CBS HAD A DIFFERENT sponsor arrangement Steve Allen hurriedly shut up all the ladies who wanted to talk about their dress designers 'No plugs' he'd say Most of the women it appeared were wearing Ship n Shore blouses which by an odd coincidence sponsored the show They showed them off almost furtively as if secretly wishing they were in something else Here is a lady" he said at one point, 'who is willing—in fact, is determined—to be interviewed"

Inside the Hotel Plaza Marguerite Piazza and Dave Garroway shared the microphone and the cameras Miss Piazza gushed over every passing celebrity and tried on about a dozen different hats with an appropriate mention of the trade name each time Anita Colby and Ann Sheridan at a nearby table delivered an interminable commercial for Shadow Wave a new home permanent Miss Sheridan the straight woman repeatedly exclaimed Does it really

Again this year . . . as in the past two years . . . Ford was first in gas economy over all other cars in its price class in the Mobilgas Economy Run In this toughest of-all economy test for American stock model cars, a Ford SIX equipped with Overdrive (optional at extra cost) averaged 53 855 ton-miles per gallon and 25 463 actual miles per gallon.
This was a very special triumph for Ford's All-New Mileage Maker high-compression SIX. For now, with its new design providing 101-horsepower and free-turning overhead valves, Ford is definitely pound-for-pound the most economical low-priced car to run! Yes . . Ford's thrift was clearly proved by the 1,415-mile grind from Los Angeles to Sun Valley . . . a course that included dense city traffic, below-sea-level desert heat reaching over 100 degrees, and rugged mountain passes up to 8,000 feet with below zero temperatures And a very important factor contributing to this victory is Ford's Automatic Power Pilot which squeezes the last ounce of power out of every drop of gas.
*The AAA Contest Board determines the winner by a 'ton mile per gallon' formula to insure equal chance for all cars in each class regardless of size and weight Ton miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by number of miles travelled divided by number of gallons consumed

How the Nation's Press Views the

GOVERNMENT'S SEIZURE OF STEEL

The Government's illegal seizure of the Steel Mills has stirred the greatest constitutional issue since the "Court Packing Plan" of 1937.

Newspapers throughout the United States have commented vigorously on this issue. Following are typical excerpts from their editorial comment:

Mark This Day and Date on Your Calendar

It is the day on which, without the formality of an election, the government of the United States ceased to be a government by and for the people and came into the open frankly and nakedly as a labor dictatorship.

—The Indianapolis (Ind.) News.

"A stop must be put to executive assertion and exercise of powers not clearly belonging to it or else our whole constitutional system is doomed to destruction."

—The Detroit (Mich.) Free Press.

"If the President gets away with what amounts to virtual confiscation of the steel industry no other business in the United States is safe from the socialistic planners."

—Topeka (Kan.) Daily Capital.

"President Truman has precipitated a constitutional and political crisis that reaches well beyond the immediate strife and dangers of inflation. His seizure of the steel industry raises constitutional issues as fundamental as the Roosevelt court-packing plan of 1937."

—The Christian Science Monitor, Boston, Mass.

"President Truman stood before the American people Tuesday night and proclaimed himself a dictator as far as the nation's steel industry is concerned."

—The Plain Dealer, Cleveland, Ohio

"Last night (Harry Truman) put the government into the steel business without authority of Congress or the people, ignoring the law adopted by Congress for dealing with this kind of emergency."

—Chicago Daily News

"President Truman's seizure of the steel industry will probably go down in history as one of the most high handed acts committed by an American President."

—The Washington (D.C.) Post.

"The President has demonstrated a willingness to place the vast, war inflated powers of government on the side of a great labor union in its demand for higher wages and the union shop. He has done this without going through intermediary steps such as invoking the Taft-Hartley law's cooling off period."

—Newark (N.J.) Star-Ledger

"Mr. Truman should not be allowed dictatorially to by-pass legislation in force and make his own law. The precedent he is attempting to establish would allow the President to take over any property, institution or concern as he desired."

—The Boston Herald.

"In our view the President has chosen untrustworthy weapons in his proclaimed defense of the national welfare, and has tried to arrogate to himself authority that is not his to assume."

—San Francisco Chronicle

"The President has authored a new principle in American law. The chief executive may in time of peace, and without any specific authority, seize the property of any party that disagrees with the government's 'recommendation' in an industrial dispute."

—Pittsburgh Post-Gazette.

"The President is behaving like a dictator, ignoring the lawful procedures set up by the Congress for government intervention in strikes. If he gets away with this, there's no telling what might be the next step in confiscation of private property and infringement of personal liberties."

—The Cleveland News.

"To get to the Nazi-Fascist character of Truman's act:

"He sprung this seizure after by-passing the Taft-Hartley law under which the strike could have been legally delayed for 80 days while the unions and companies bargained. He attempted to justify the grab under a vaguely asserted constitutional power to protect the national welfare."

Dr. Merchant Speaks to Lions Club Audience

Vital Need of Supporting Fight Against Cancer Cited by Physician

There is more than just hope for people who develop cancer, Dr Frederick T Merchant told members of the Marion Lions Club Monday noon—if the victims of the disease knew what to do when the first signs occur

The Marion physician and surgeon speaking at the Lions weekly luncheon at Hotel Harding gave the club members a report on the nation's Number Two killer of Number One importance' which will strike one out of every five persons living today His talk was given in connection with the cancer fund campaign now underway

Those of us in the medical profession used to determine that one person in eight will develop a cancer of some kind during his lifetime ' he stated, ' but now the scientists tell us that cancer will strike one in five Whether cancer is on the increase or whether modern methods of diagnosis are just turning up more cases only time will determine But at any rate one in every eight will develop some kind of malignant tumor during his lifetime '

It is possible that cancer is on the increase since the life expectancy in this country is increasing steadily and the percentage of older people in the population is increasing Cancer makes its appearance frequently in persons of the fourth fifth and sixth decades and this factor could account for some increase However modern detection uncovers many cases that formerly were not recognized as cancer and man's ability to diagnose correctly may be the factor which points toward cancer as being on the increase Dr Merchant said

Education Essential

Among the important things which must be done if hope is to be held out to the victims of cancer are the education of the public on what cancer is and how to recognize the symptoms and the elimination of the fear among people of developing cancer the luncheon audience was told

Many people have a peculiar attitude toward cancer the surgeon indicated Many are afraid to investigate something which might be a symptom of cancer for fear that they might discover they have the disease It is most important that the public become educated in the signs and symptoms which are indicators of cancer he said

What are these signs which might indicate cancer Dr Merchant gave these manifestations which may indicate cancer or some kind of malignant growth

1 Any lesion or surface infection which does not heal properly or which persist on staying open for two or three weeks

2 Any abnormal bleeding or discharge from any orifice in the body

3 Any lump or under the surface thickening in any gland or any part of the body

4 Any persistently abnormal condition about the body such as these indicated here or which appear to the person to be not right

What to do if a symptom such as these appear If the person has any doubt he should see a physician who can make the proper tests and examination to determine the cause of the manifestation The free cancer clinic sponsored by the Marion County Unit of the American Cancer Society serves the public in this capacity and will examine free of charge any person who for any reason feels he would like the answer

The worst thing a person who fears he may have cancer can do is to seek advice or treatment from an unqualified individual Dr Merchant warned There are many quacks doing business in this country today who are getting rich on the public's fear of cancer, the surgeon told his audience

Warns Against "Quacks"

If you want to make a fortune just cook up some concoction and give it a fancy name and advertise the stuff and you'll attract a lot of people who will believe anything when they are afraid" Dr Merchant said ' Just rig up a 'cure that is painless and easy to take and you'll make a lot of money before the law catches up with you

We have all kinds of these 'quacks' operating today, Dr Merchant said Down in the southern part of the state is one who talks in terms of yogi as a 'cure for cancer Up in Detroit and around you find some who advertise radio wave treatments and in California you can find almost anything from herb treatments on up These people are preying on the fear of the public and if you go to them, you'll be cured if there's nothing wrong the doctor warned

' Some of us see patients from time to time who have gone to these quacks, often we see them too late and can do nothing ' the surgeon said He gave this test for determining if a procedure is logical ' Remember that if radium rays and x-rays, which are very powerful, cannot always kill a cancerous growth, how can herbs, or yogi, or radio waves or some such technique combat the cancer '

What can be done when cancer is detected or indicated by someone qualified to diagnose' In answering the question, Dr Merchant pointed out that there are three approaches toward treatment, as far as the medical profession is able to determine today These call for the use of radium rays, x-rays and surgery The medical profession uses no other means

Radium rays and x-rays penetrate deeply into tumors inside the body and kill the malignant tissue to prevent it from spreading Surgery is used to remove a cancer from the body before it has spread too far once it has gotten a deep footing in the body it is almost impossible to remove entirely and to stop

There is great hope today in what can be done with radioactive isotopes Dr Merchant said These isotopes are being used to detect many deep seated tumors and cancers before they grow to the critical stage and when there is still hope of removing them or killing them with radium rays or x-rays

The medical profession today knows a lot about cancer but there is also a lot that is not known, the surgeon explained We know only in part the causes of cancer and we know the ingredients of a cancerous growth but we cannot make a cancer grow We do not know why they grow although we know that they grow and develop faster under some conditions he added

For example he stated, the medical profession knows that many persons who are constantly exposed to bright sunlight develop skin cancers which can become malignant but the reason is not known These types of cancer can be cured when they are diagnosed early as can nearly all types of cancer

The big hope for cancer victims today is in early diagnosis ' Dr Merchant said If the public can be educated in the diagnosis of cancer and the fear can be tempered and the stigma removed then we can go a long way toward reducing the terrible death toll from cancer

This education of the public carries a two-fold responsibility the surgeon explained There is a general obligation to inform the public and there is an obligation on the medical profession to do all they can to detect cancer in its early stages Dr Merchant told the Lions

Tells of Clinic Service

Marion has been doing something about cancer and the annual fund campaign of the local unit of the American Cancer Society is providing the funds for the fight against the disease Dr Merchant explained Since 1945 a free cancer clinic has been in operation and many cases of cancer have been uncovered Citizens can help in the fight by giving to the cancer fund drive now underway

Of every dollar given locally to the cancer campaign, half goes to the support of the local cancer clinic and to the educational program locally The other half goes to the national organization where it is divided equally between research into the causes and the treatment of cancer, and into an educational campaign to tell the public how to detect cancer and what to do when it is detected

There is proof that this campaign is doing much good Dr Merchant said Our local clinic like those all over the nation is turning up many cases of cancer that would ordinarily go undiagnosed until too late Today it is rare for a physician to discover a large tumor or cancer where a few years ago many cancers were not diagnosed until they were too far advanced for proper treatment These are signs that the fight against cancer is being won but emphasize the importance of the Cancer Fund drive to the community, Dr Merchant pointed out

'51 Net Profits Down, Reports Steel Industry

CLEVELAND (AP)—The steel industry's net profits declined last year, Steel Magazine said Monday while pointing out reasons for further decreases

The metalworking journal's 27th annual financial analysis of the industry showed that net profits for 1951 were down 12.9 per cent from the year before for the industry as a whole although sales and other revenues were up 21.8 per cent

Among the reasons given for other cuts in profits were the costs of preparing for a strike increased rail rates and additional accounting costs brought on by the government seizure of the mills

The government took over the mills to prevent a strike threatened by the CIO - Steelworkers Steel said that 826,000 net tons of ingots were lost two weeks ago when furnaces were cooled off in anticipation of a walkout

Buyers will pay the increased rail costs on finished steel but the magazine said the increased rates on hauling raw materials will add many millions of dollars onto the steel industry's costs of doing business

Furnaces were refired after the government took over and the magazine said mills operated last week at 96.5 per cent of the nation's rated capacity That means 2,004,000 net tons were poured

117,000 In Ohio Get State Aid For Aged

AKRON, O.—(AP)—One Ohioan out of every 68 receives $50 monthly in state old age assistance.

John H. Lamneck, state welfare director, said Monday in a speech prepared for delivery before the Akron Social Workers' Club the ratio in some counties is one person out of every 20.

Right now 117,000 Ohioans get old age assistance from the state, he said. First awards were made in 1934, and since then the state division of aid for the aged has distributed about 745 million dollars.

The average monthly grant was $14 13 in 1934, while today it is $50.

At present there are 2,886 applications pending for old age benefits as compared to 3,942 last year, Lamneck said.

As required by law, Ohio recovered more than $3,000,000 from estates and trusteed property of persons receiving old age assistance.

Lamneck said about 700,000 patients are wards of Ohio mental hospitals with about 475,000 in actual residence

He said about 100,000 new cases are admitted annually in addition to 35,000 re-admissions.

Since 1945, the State Welfare Department authorized construction of nine mental receiving hospitals for adults.

Seven now are in full or partial operation at Cleveland, Youngstown, Dayton, Toledo, Athens, Cuyahoga Falls and at Ohio State University in Columbus

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

"I'm not so sure," I told Katharine, laughing, for her gibing, as usual, had lifted my spirits. "I really did spend a lot of time with Marion."

"Blame it on me," she said. "Tell him-I was pretending I was a balky mule, and that you had to light a fire under me before I'd budge in his direction."

"Wouldn't that be a solution?" I asked. "No, thank you, I'll tell the truth, the whole truth—"

"And nothing but the whole truth, so help you God," she finished. "Well! It is to be hoped God does His part Otherwise I'm likely to have to put you in three wastebaskets in pieces. One wouldn't hold you."

We heard the elevator come to a stop in the hall and smoothed the laughter from our faces. Then Adams knocked on the door, and, in another three minutes we were inside the living room of my own apartment, with my father a bit grim under his formal courtesy, and Dicky making elaborate faces at me behind his back. Lillian was not to be seen, and I put a question quickly, hoping, vainly, I knew—to divert my father's attention from my tardiness

"Lillian is still asleep?" I asked in muted tones, looking through the opened door, down the corridor to the closed door of Faith's room.

"Dead to the world," Dicky said. "There hasn't been a peep out of her."

"If she hasn't awakened before this, she won't for another two hours," I said with distinct relief in my voice. "I'm so glad. I won't have to discuss Marion with her until I get my thoughts into sequence"

I turned to my father with apology in my voice and manner.

"Father, I am so sorry for keeping you waiting," I said. I wanted to give a message to Marion, and thought it would take only a minute, but I found her in such a state that I had to spend more time with her than I had planned. I hope I haven't inconvenienced you"

His heavy eyebrows smoothed themselves out—they had been distinctly knitted — and I saw that his mood had softened.

"Your explanation is perfectly satisfactory," he said. Then he looked at his wrist watch.

"I still have some extra time," he said. "Is your talk with Marion anything that I ought to know in order to deal with Lillian again?"

"I shall be very glad to tell you all about it," I said, and a glance from beneath my eyelashes at Katharine told me that she was well content to postpone for a little while her coming interview with my father. "I went up there with the intention of telling Marion about Robert Savarin's money, I changed my blueprint a bit when I talked to her. I told her that I intended to give it, not to her, but to Ronald, as a gift or a loan, whichever he wished to consider it."

My irrepressible husband sprang to his feet and made me a low bow, sweeping an imaginary plumed hat across the floor in front of him in a flamboyant gesture of tribute.

"A stroke of genius!" he said. "It solves everything. Don't you agree, Dad?"

Ye Olde Inflation

By FRANK TRIPP

THIS IS THE STORY of Happy Haven, in ye olde days. It was as contented a parish as ever there was. Its economy was self contained. It grew and produced everything it needed. It had no money, no medium of exchange Credit was unknown.

Everybody was solvent—went to bed every night all even with the world. Those who farmed swapped wheat, corn, and wool for clothes and shoes. The carpenter who built the buildings was paid in food, fuel and supplies Everybody paid for what he had with his produce, his services or with something that he made.

One day the miller needed a new grain bin and sent for Tom, the carpenter. "I will charge 15 more than the last one," said the carpented. "I will charge 15 bushels of wheat for building this one."

"But I only paid you 10 bushels for the last one," said the miller

The miller had to have the bin so he stood the raise

A FARMER drove in with 20 bushels of wheat. "Sorry, Joe, but I've got to charge you five bushels for milling this time," the miller told the farmer. "You see, Tom-the-Carpenter went up on his charge for a new grain bin and I've got to have more wheat to pay him."

The weaver went to the farmer to get some wool. "Got to charge you two bolts of homespun this time," said the farmer "The cost of milling has gone up"

The shoemaker went to the weaver to get some cloth. "Got to charge you two pair of boots for the homespun this time," said the weaver. "The cost of things is going up."

TOM, THE CARPENTER, was going fine—he thought—so he decided to tog out in some new duds. He went to the weaver for some cloth.

"What you got to pay with?" asked the weaver.

"I've got some wheat," said the carpenter.

"Okay, it'll cost you three more bushels than last time," said the weaver "Everything is going up."

Tom then went to the shoemaker for a pair of boots. "They'll cost you more this time," said the cobbler. "I'll have to get three more bushels than before. Things are going up."

Tom and his wife went into a huddle. "We're worse off than ever," said Tom. "I raised five bushels for building the grain bin but the weaver charged me three more bushels for the homespun and the bootmaker charged me three more for my boots—the robbers. That's six bushels; one more bushel than what I got extra for the grain bin."

"You'll have to build more gain bins," observed Tom's wife.

"How can I?" asked Tom. "The miller says he can't afford to build any more grain bins He's figured out a substitute.

"Looks like you're stuck, Tom. All you've done is increase the cost of our living"

THEN CAME the showdown. The parson and the school teacher called a meeting of the hamlet's peers. The parson reported:

"I am very sorry gentlemen, but the cost of things has gone up so in Happy Haven that I'll have to get more provender next year. I know of no other way to meet the situation."

"How about savin' more souls'" piped the hoss-shoer — who was promptly ejected from the meeting.

"And I'm at my wits' end," said the school teacher. "Whatever can I do?"

"You'll have to do like the rest of us," injected the farmer. 'Produce more—teach more learnin'."

"I'll teach more learnin'," proclaimed the teacher. "I'll teach you numbskulls that you all are just running around in circles And you're going to ruin Happy Haven, that's what you're going to do.

"If you don't wake up, this town will go bankrupt. You'll pay me more or your brats will grow up to be bigger ignoramuses than you are—if that's possible. I'm through I strike!'"

PRETTY SOON all of Happy Haven got the gimmies. Everybody tried to get out ahead of the pack A new word crept into the community's vocabulary— "inflation."

Nobody could produce enough to pay the others what they charged for things. So they went on the installment basis and printed some money. A guy opened a bank, loaned everybody on mortgages—and now he owns half the town.

That is the story of Happy Haven.

Italy has about 800,000 licensed motorcycles.

Politics

preference. There are no names on the ballot. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee was hoping to shine in this department.

A move in Kefauver's behalf at the Idaho Democratic convention fell by the wayside yesterday when a 12-vote delegation was left uninstructed. A motion to pledge the group to Kefauver was beaten down at the Lewiston meeting.

Meanwhile, there were these doings in the various camps:

TAFT— The Republican senator made a six-speech visit yesterday to his home state of Ohio At an Ashtabula luncheon Taft promised that, if president, he would cut federal taxes 15 to 20 per cent within two years.

Taft seemed assured of all three Alaska GOP convention delegates. The third, named at a Seward convention yesterday, is a known Taft partisan. So are the other two.

The Taft-for-president committee said in Washington Monday that results of a private research firm indicate Eisenhower is not as popular as supposed and would make a weak candidate who could not win. Taft headquarters said it hired Lloyd H Hall & Co. of New York to test Eisenhower's strength among his own supporters. The sampling of 1,342 Eisenhower backers in all parts of the country showed, Taft headquarters said, that the general loses support every time he takes a stand on basic issues.

EISENHOWER — In Denver, Eisenhower backers won the first two of Colorado's 18 GOP delegates and claimed they would win most of the others this weekend. Two district delegates pledged to Eisenhower were elected yesterday. I-Like-Ike forces captured the majority of 362 Denver delegates to the state convention, where at-large delegates will be chosen Saturday.

HARRIMAN — Rep. Franklin Roosevelt Jr. announced in New York Monday he is chairman of a newly-organized "National Citizens Committee for Harriman for President." Harriman, Roosevelt said, will "make his statement" on the Democratic race at a news conference today in Washington.

Cubs Furnish Early Surprise In National League Race

Chicago Refuses To Play Dead, Ties For Second

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

Manager Phil Cavarretta is mixing a 'mickey' for the contenders who expect to fatten up on his Chicago Cubs

Nobody gave the Cubs a tumble in the pre-season picks One brave soul gave them fifth place But 93 of the 124 baseball writers stuck them in the cellar, a position they may yet merit

I know we wont finish last again said Manager Phil Why not The Cubs finished last three times in the past four years

In the first week of the season the Cubs didnt go down to visit their old basement quarters once With a 4-2 record theyre traipsing along in a second-place tie with Cincinnati —of all people

The Brooklyn Dodger surplus gleefully unloaded on the Cubs in the past few years, is doing a big share of the job Paul Minner Turk Lown, Bob Ramazzotti, Toby Atwell and the rest

Minner threw a three-hitter at Pittsburgh Monday night for a 7-1 victory while the Cubs racked up Rookie Ronnie Kline and three successors One of the hits off Minner was Jack Merson's second homer of the season

The 20-year-old Kline got in trouble at the start by walking Ramazzotti Before he got the side out the Cubs had four runs Minner's double and Ramazzotti's single chased Kline in the second The Cubs added the rest off Forrest Main

Thomson Homers

Bobby Thomson found the homer range for the first time since his dramatic pennant-clinche in the 1951 playoffs as the New York Giants walloped the Phillies 10-4 Don Mueller also homered and added a triple and single to drive in four runs in the attack on loser Howie Fox and three other Phil pitchers Jim Hearn was the winner

League-leading Brooklyn was idle So were the Boston Braves St Louis Cards and Cincinnati Reds

Vic Raschi whipped the Philadelphia A's for the eighth straight time running his lifetime record against them to 22-2, with the New York Yankees 5-1 triumph Actually the relief work of Bob Kuzava and two glaring errors by Gus Zernial and Joe Astroth were as important as Raschi's work

Fills Bases

When Raschi wobbled in the eighth to fill the bases on a single and two walks, Casey Stengel called for Kuzava The left-hander got the side out and breezed through the ninth

Little Bobby Shantz gave only five hits including Mickey Mantle's homer, but the boys didnt back him up The A's left 10 on base and hit into four double plays

Ferris Fain league batting champ in '51, finally broke out of his slump After 21 hitless trips he singled in the second to drive in the only Philadelphia run

Julio Moreno fit and ready after a winter in the Cuban League whipped the Boston Red Sox for the second time 3-2 Moreno is the only pitcher to beat the Sox this season Sam Mele's long fly to center with the bases loaded in the eighth gave Washington its winning run

Umpire Joe Paparella touched off a rhubarb in the Boston fifth when he ruled on an appeal that Faye Throneberry's line single actually hit baserunner Walt Dropo In the fuss Paparella ejected Lou Boudreau for the first time as Red Sox manager

Marciano Wins On KO, Runs String to 40

PROVIDENCE R I (AP)—Rugged Rocky Marciano knocked out squat Gino Buonvino of Italy with a looping right to the jaw in 1 35 of the second round Monday night to run his undefeated string to 40 bouts and 33 kayoes

The Brockton Mass belter showed his best form since beating Joe Louis

Marciano showed none of the careless wild-swinging style that cost him a lot of prestige while he was whipping Veteran Lee Savold in Philadelphia recently It was Rocky's second win over Buonvino having stopped him in the 10th round at Boston's Braves Field two years ago

The crowd of 4,592 was far below expectations The gross gate totaled $12,142 Marciano was signed soon after the fight to box here again in May probably against Bernie Reynolds former New England heavy titlist

In Boston, two other heavyweights who hope to clash with Marciano —Irish Bob Murphy and Coley Wallace—punched out victories

Murphy the ex-sailor who used to fight out of San Diego, Calif but now calls Boston his home port outslugged Reuben Jones of Richmond, Va, for a 10-round unanimous decision

In the co-featured 10-rounder Wallace took an unanimous verdict from giant Sandy McPherson Tulsa, Okla

Wallace gave away 32 pounds to McPherson who scaled 231

Garcia, Byrne Tonight

Tribe Skipper Expects Many Southpaw Hurlers

ST LOUIS (AP)—We're going to be up against a lot of left handed pitchers this year

Cleveland Manager Al Lopez said that shortly before the season started it looks as if he knew what he was talking about

Tonight for example, Southpaw Tommy Byrne pitches for the Browns against the Indians Brownie Manager Rogers Hornsby has been saving him In the other game Wednesday night, it will be Bob Cain, another left hander

For Cleveland tonight will be Mike Garcia Bob Feller starts Wednesday night

The Indians dont like southpaws either

In seven games this season the Indians have batted 86 times against southpaws for 18 hits and a 209 average In 140 times against right handers they got 47 hits for 336

Doby isn't with the team here He will remain in Cleveland taking care of the charley horse in his leg missing the St Louis series and the one home game Friday against the Chicago White Sox

Lopez hopes he will be ready for the Tigers at Detroit this week end

'We want to give him plenty of rest,' said Lopez 'No use taking a chance this early in the season Besides Reiser is doing a good job in centerfield'

Work, Not Money Wins, Says Weiss

Yankee Boss Credits Bombers' Success To Scouts, Farm System

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Casual readers of the sports pages tend to regard George Weiss as a modern Croesus who sits astride a gold chest in the Yankees' plush Fifth Avenue offices and buys baseball pennants as the fancy strikes him

Actually the astute general manager of the world champions is a retiring soft-spoken New Englander who insists when prodded that the Yankees phenomenal success has been bought not by dollars but by hard work and pin-point organization

'ONE OF THE BIGGEST FALLACIES in baseball is that when one of our players wears out we simply go out and buy the best replacement possible' Weiss said Monday as he relaxed in his lofty Yankee Stadium box

'Did you know that between 1932 and 1948 we bought only two players? We paid San Francisco $25 000 for Joe DiMaggio and about the same time we paid $25 000 for a pitcher Rugger Ardizoia who never quite developed as we hoped

The men we've picked up since were principally as a defensive measure First we got Johnny Mize from the Giants The Red Sox wanted him We were in a fight with the Red Sox for the pennant so we snatched him We got Johnny Hopp from the Pirates and John Sain from the Braves under similar circumstances

'But you could hardly call these killer deals These men have helped us, but they are veterans used only for part-time service

During the rest of the period we pulled men up from our own organization If you tried to analyze the success of the Yanks you'd have to start with our scouting system the best Then you'd have to take the careful specialized training given the players in the minors to fit them into the Yankee pattern'

Reds' Sluggers Meet Cards In Night Tilt

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds flexing their muscles with new-found power hitting will seek their fourth straight victory tonight against the St Louis Cardinals in their first 1952 game under the lights

The Redlegs came home Monday from a jaunt to Pittsburgh and weather permitting will open a two-game series with the Cards tonight

Manager Luke Sewell said he'd send the veteran Ken Raffensberger out for the pitching chore and he's expected to be opposed by Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell the Cards fabulous rookie who is being likened to such greats as Dizzy Dean Carl Hubbell and Lefty Grove

Mizell is the rookie from the tiny Alabama town who had a 1.96 earned run average in the Texas League last year and struck out 257 in 238 innings A lot of the experts have contended through spring training that he'll be little short of terrific in night game pitching

The Reds unexpected display of power hitting in their first six games has attracted most of the attention among Rhinelander fans but some of the spotlight is being directed at the fielding of Roy McMillan at shortstop

McMillan a sophomore isnt even close to hitting his weight He's had only one safe blow in 26 times at bat—but his sharp fielding has brought predictions he'll be the best defensive shortstop Cincinnati has had since Eddie Miller

Harding Whipped 7-3 By Delaware In Opening Tilt

Harding High School opened its baseball season by losing a 7-3 decision at Delaware Monday.

Delaware scored seven runs in the third inning on three hits, two errors, two walks, and a hit batsman.

Harding scored single runs in the first, third, and fifth. Thomas' triple and a long fly by Morse gave the Presidents their first run. In the third a triple by Chafin and a single by Niles put Harding in front 2-0 but the Delaware third was too much. Harding collected the final run in the fifth on consecutive triples by Thomas and Morse.

Jim Edington went the route for Harding, allowing five hits and striking out 10. Clark started for Delaware and gave up seven hits and struck out five but was relieved by Carlisle in the sixth. Carlisle allowed two hits and fanned five.

Next Monday Harding will travel to Mansfield for their second game of the season.

The Prexies outhit Delaware 9 to 5 and collected four triples against Delaware's two doubles in extra base blows. The Prexies, however, left nine runners on the bases while Delaware left only five.

13 Horses Set For Derby

Injuries, Illness Cut Three From Field

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Thirteen horses were counted today as probable starters for this year's Kentucky Derby.

The historic race, 11 days away, was developing into a wide open affair.

This uncertainty may result in a starting field of more than the "baker's dozen" when the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home" call the horses to the post.

Here they are, and there'll likely be more:

Sub Fleet, Happy Go Lucky, Master Fiddle, County Flame, Cousin Hannibal, Pintor, Blue Man, Arroz, Hill Gail, Cold Command, Gushing Oil and Smoke Screen.

The superstitious eyed that "13" figure with some misgiving. For the Derby jinx, in the form of training injuries or illness, was taking its toll.

Just Monday, Tom Fool, Primate and Jampol, three of the East's candidates, were declared out.

But this, paradoxically, may mean more entries for the $100,000 added classic that'll be run at Churchill Downs Saturday, May 3, for the 78th time.

For when a top-flight horse, like Tom Fool, say, is withdrawn other prospects' chances are reviewed. And, where before a nominee might have been considered doubtful, he's made a starter.

Last year's derby, won by Count Turf, had 20 starters, the most since 1937, when War Admiral was the winner. Middleground beat 13 others in 1950. Ponder did the same in 1949.

Edison Athletes Receive Awards

Edison Junior High School athletes were guests of honor Monday night at a banquet held in the school dining room. Members of the football and basketball teams received awards from Coach George Whitehead.

Speakers included George Keel, assistant football coach at Harding High School, Ken Somerlot, Harding basketball coach, Lester Dickey, city school superintendent, and James E. Frew, Edison principal. Carl Fogle was toastmaster. Arrangements for the banquet were in charge of mothers of the Edison PTA.

Cheerleader awards were presented by Mrs. Virginia Sutherland to the following girls: Sue Foreman, Gail Pierce, Linda Linscott, Phyllis Bailey, Judy Speck and Peggy Parr.

Receiving grid awards from Whitehead were: Ted Firstenberger, Fred Hazen, Jerry Thomas, Harley Downs, Frank D'Eramo, Jim Peacock, Larry Sager, Roger Bond, Frank Nolfi, Bob Caldwell, Tom Hazen, Tom White, Bob Stauffer, Don Schweinfurth, Jim Alex and Joe Albinack. Dick Hart and Gene Phillians were football managers.

Basketball awards went to Fred Hazen, Jerry Thomas, Jim Saiter, Ted Firstenberger, Bob Emmons, and Don Schweinfurth. Joe Albinack was manager.

Movies of Harding High School football games were shown as part of the program.

Canada Sheep Ranchers Lick Coyote Problem

CARDSON, Alberta (UP) — Sheep ranchers in this southern Alberta foothills community feel they have the coyote problem licked, thanks to a new deadly poison named "1080."

Last year, the coyotes slaughtered 323 sheep in the area. Since last fall, when the poison was first used, ranchers report seeing only six live coyotes in the district and not a single sheep had been cut down by the killers.

Baiting of meat was heavy during the winter and ranchmen hope they can build up their dwindling herds.

PLENTY OF KELLEY

BOSTON (UP) — There was plenty of Kelley in the Boston University hockey lineup this season. The players included brothers Ray and Dick Kelley of Cambridge and brothers Paul and Jack Kelley of Belmont.

BOWLING RESULTS

Steve Hanovich registered a 212-599 series to take individual laurels in the Universal Cooler League Friday night at the Marion Recreation Center. White-Cloaked Riders Puzzle Eighth Army

SEOUL, Korea (AP)—A report of white-clad Chinese Communist cavalrymen on the central Korean war front puzzled U. S. Eighth Army officers Tuesday.

Front line units said they spotted 200 riders in white moving toward Kumsong Monday afternoon. They said heavy artillery ripped the column to pieces.

Two other white-cloaked bands of 50 and 60 men were reported sighted in the area.

"We can't attach any significance to the report at this time," said an Eighth Army staff officer. "Intelligence officers are studying the details. All we have now are fragmentary reports."

He said the white uniforms possibly could be explained by the probability of snow in the mountains northeast of Kumsong.

Communist cavalrymen were last reported on the front shortly after the entry of Red China into the war in the fall of 1950.

The western and central fronts were generally quiet. There was a flurry of Red probing and patrol action in the mountainous east.

Spokesman Hits Red "Attitude"

MUNSAN, Korea (AP)—In a sharp 16-minute truce session an Allied spokesman told Communist negotiators today: "Your attitude clearly indicates you have not come to these conferences to negotiate an armistice."

Col. Don O. Darrow made the statement after North Korean Col. Chang Chun told him to "give up your illusions" about banning Red airfield reconstruction during a Korean armistice.

Darrow said the Communists appeared more concerned with the U.N. command's attitude "than with solving problems."

No problems were solved in the session dealing with means of supervising a truce.

Outfielder Del Ennis is the only player on the Philadelphia Phillies who was born in Philadelphia.

Forced Unneeded Contest

Stassen's Entry in Ohio Unnecessary, Says Taft

CANTON, O. (AP) — Senator Robert A. Taft believes that Harold E. Stassen's entry in the May 6 Ohio primary forced a "wholly unnecessary contest."

Taft, who resumes his Ohio campaign for presidential delegates Sunday made that one reference to his opponent Monday night in a speech ending a one-day stumping tour of northeastern Ohio.

He addressed the Ohio Federation of Republican Women's organizations.

Taft did not name Stassen but explained to a reporter later: "I don't think Stassen will get any delegates, but we can't take any chances."

Ohio has 56 Republican delegates to the national convention. Of these, Stassen is competing for 47. Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower is competing for one—in Summit County (Ohio).

Stassen will open his campaign for delegates Thursday in Akron; with the exception of a week end break, he is booked solidly in Ohio right up to the day before the primary. Nationally, he is running a poor third behind Taft and the general.

Taft, who heads for Missouri today, was asked by a reporter Monday night what he would do in the event of an Eisenhower boom at the national convention. He replied: "We haven't been much concerned and haven't made many plans."

Flood Funds

ernment appropriations are used exclusively for the rebuilding and repair of public facilities, and no part of such funds go to relief of individual sufferers.

Red Cross disaster aid is in the form of an outright gift, Larsen explained and emergency relief is provided in the form of food, clothing, shelter and medical aid to disaster victims.

Fight To Win Freedom Lost By Countess

Must Serve Jail Term For Spying, Says Supreme Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — By a 4-4 vote, the Supreme Court Monday refused to free German countess Marianna Von Moltke from the prison term she drew on charges that she spied for Hitler's reich during World War II.

Mrs. Von Moltke's home was in Detroit. Her four-year sentence has been marked by litigation since it was pronounced in 1944.

The Supreme Court's action was announced in an unsigned order which noted only that the tribunal was equally divided. Such tie votes always uphold the lower court. Justice Clark disqualified himself from the case.

Mrs. Von Moltke and her husband came to this country from Germany in 1926. The Count became an instructor of German literature at Wayne University. In 1943 Mrs. Von Moltke was arrested as a dangerous enemy alien.

In the espionage case, the government charged she was associated with conspirators who planned to send to Germany documents, pictures and blue prints giving information about national defense of the United States.

In other actions today the high court:

1. Refused to reconsider its March 10 decision upholding contempt sentences given six lawyers who defended 11 top Communist leaders at a stormy New York trial.

2. Refused for a third time to act on an appeal by Vincent W. Hallinan, San Francisco attorney who received a six-month contempt sentence during the Harry Bridges perjury trial.

3. Upheld 7-0 a finding that the Richfield Oil Corporation of Los Angeles violated the anti-trust laws by requiring 2,965 western service stations to buy only from Richfield.

4. Rejected five requests that it step into a controversy over a reorganization plan for the big Missouri Pacific Railroad which has been in bankruptcy proceedings since 1933.

CROW TOO BRASH

CHESHIRE, Conn. (UP)—Paul Zentek doesn't mind it so much when his pet crow Corky steals clothespins and pecks putty out of window frames but he is annoyed at the bird's latest trick. The crow flies into visitors' automobiles and swipes ignition keys.
